EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

SEYMOUR ought to work in one more declination at least before the convention adjourns.

WITH Indiana voting in October the Democrats are more in need of a barrel than ever. If they lose Indiana away goes their prop.

THE more mud the Democrats hurl at Garfield the brighter his prospects for success become.

THE New York Sun says Tilden must be nominated whether he wants the nomination or not. The Sun evidently thinks there is no chance for a Democrat who hasn't a big barrel.

THE Democratic mud-slingers are becoming desperately angry because the sober thinking people of the country, Democrats included, merely smile at their futile attempts to besmirch the character of General Garfield.

INDICATIONS at Cincinnati go to show that Tilden has immense strength among the old managers of his party. His supporters are by far the ablest men now known to his party, but, nevertheless, to him has lost nothing of its envenomed force.

STEAMBOAT collisions on Long Island Sound are getting to be an almost every day occurrence. On Saturday night the Long Branch steamer Adelaide was run down by the excursion steamer Grand Republic. She was struck on the port side forward of the wheel house and nearly broken in two. Only one passenger, a woman, was on board the Adelaide. She and the crew were rescued. The Adelaide was towed to the foot of Bank street, North river, where she sunk in eighteen feet of water. The Grand Republic sustained slight damage.

IF Henry B. Payne becomes the Democratic candidate for President, the party's mud-slingers will be in a curious position. He declares in an interview with a correspondent of the Herald that he and Garfield have been friends for years, and that when the latter is in Cleveland they usually pass an evening together. "It isn't likely," adds Mr. Payne, with a sense of justice which does him honor, "that I would continue to respect and admit to my intercourse any man whom I believed guilty of deliberate dishonor. No. I have never examined the specific charges against Garfield, nor acquainted myself with his defence against them. From my knowledge of his character, however, I should be decidedly inclined to believe that he was deceived rather than guilty—that his ignorance of business affairs and methods was to blame for any error. No, no! With General Garfield's political creed I am utterly at variance. I abhor the selfish, centralizing, tyrannical and plundering tendencies of the party which has nominated him. I should deem his election the greatest of misfortunes now when the greatest of all opportunities is presented for the defeat of any Republican caddidate and the re establishment of a sound Democratic government at Washington. But all this does not counsel me to an unconsidered assault upon that candidate's private honor."

The Charges Against Garfield.

It is hardly necessary to answer the charges made against our candidate by our opponents, as they feel bound to throw mud, though the character of the man is as clear as crystal; but for the benefit of some who may want to see them refuted, we offer the following unanswerable answer to these slanders from the New York Tribune of last Monday:

Within the past week an occasional correspondent has asked us to say something about the Credit Mobilier and kindred charges against General Garfield, with which the opposition press has been comforting itself. We have not been in haste to enter upon an unnecessary defensive campaign, to which our enemies so eagerly invite us, and we still see no occasion for it. The common law justly secures every man against being tried for his life twice for the same offence. Common sense on our part, common justice to the accused, should equally secure him against being twice tried for what is dearer than life—his personal honor.

These charges, which the surpassing excellence of the Chicago nomination forced Democrats to fall back upon as their only weapon, are seven-years-old charges. General Garfield has been tried upon them, deliberately and exhaustively—tried when the witnesses were all alive, when the whole American people were aroused and attentive to every minute detail, when the facts were all before them as in the glare of a calcium light—tried after, not before an election, when even partisans became critical and suspicious, and every influence tended to the severest judgment. He was tried before the most conscientious and the most exacting jury in the United States, the serious, God-fearing voters of the old Joshua R. Giddings Congressional district in Ohio. They set Giddings aside on a suspicion. They demanded Garfield's own resignation on the first report that by a single vote out of a long series he had given incidental aid to the salary grab. They tolerate no moral flaw in their representative. The case was first heard fully under oath in Washington. Then their representative was brought back face to face with them. They heard him through. They heard all his opponents could say—heard it with infinitely more precision than is possible now, after the lapse of time, the death of witnesses, the loss of color and detail. Then they sat upon the case. The result was a verdict of acquittal. They sent their representative back to Congress by an overwhelming majority; they have kept him there ever since, and they have increased their majority for him every time they have had a chance to vote for him. To-day he represents the Giddings district in Congress by one of the largest majorities that any Congressman in the United States can boast of!

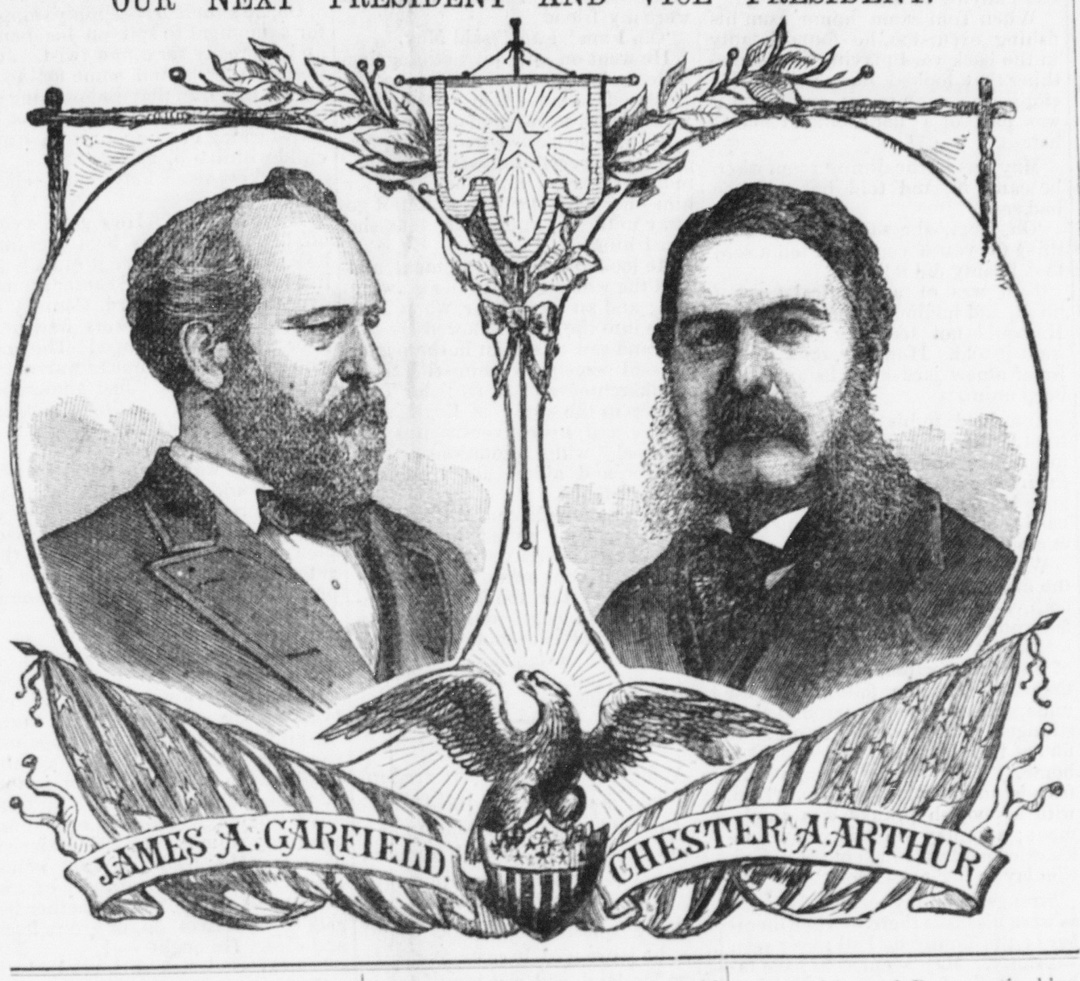
More even than that! His most conspicuous opponent in Ohio was the Hon. Allen G. Thurman, then and now United States Senator from the State, then and now one of the foremost Democratic leaders, and a Presidential candidate. After Gen. Garfield had been heard, Senator Thurman went out of his way, in a partisan speech on the stump in the campaign, to declare that the evidence showed no wrong-doing on Garfield's part. Still more! There was no bitterer Democratic newspaper in the United States than the only morning paper of that party then published in this city, the New York World. That paper quoted Senator Thurman's manly reference to Garfield, approved the sentiment and applauded the utterance. Still more! The most conspicuous Democrat in private life then or now residing at the Capital, as well as one of the bitterest partisans in the country was Judge Jeremiah S. Black. Of his own motion, without any solicitation or any reason save his own manly sense of justice and fair play, Judge Black wrote a letter for publication, declaring Garfield absolutely blameless.

And finally, after the matter had been discussed in every conceivable phase, General Garfield went before the people of Ohio distinctly as a candidate for United States Senator. He was the leader in the canvass, and he faced the voters in every district. When the Legislature thus chosen was assembled, the Republican caucus, listening to the name of no other candidate, nominated him by acclamation, and he was commissioned to the Senate the unanimous choice of his party—a compliment no Republican Senator from Ohio ever before received.

That case seemed to be closed! We are in no haste to reopen it merely to oblige the party of Jefferson Davis, Wm. M. Tweed and Samuel J. Tilden. By no futile mud-throwing at a candidate like Garfield shall they be permitted to divert public attention from their own position and record—from the unnumbered woes that befel the Nation under their rule, or from the dangers that threaten if through an evil fate they should ever attain rule again. But whenever we can see that the honest, fair-minded people of the country are really dissatisfied with the hearing the case has had, and want to try it over again, we promise that there shall be no shrinking from the ordeal, no evasion of the facts and no doubt about the verdict.

WHY the nomination of ex-Governor Hartranft, as collector of the port of Philadelphia, was not confirmed by the Senate previous to adjournment, does not appear. No doubt Mr. Cameron and other Pennsylvania leaders felt that they had not been fairly treated by the President and his advisers in making the change without consulting with or notifying them. It is quite certain that it could have been had, provided Mr. Cameron had asked it. That it was not had is presumptive evidence that he did not choose to ask it. The President, however, has promptly reappointed Hartranft under the authority which enables him to fill offices temporarily during the recess of the Senate. The tenure-of office act does not apply to this case but under the law no salary can be paid to any one appointed during the recess to fill a vacancy which existed while the Senate was in session until such appointee shall have been regularly confirmed. The Philadelphia Times says "it is evident that Senator Cameron was not prepared for a change in the Collectorship. Had it involved only the transfer of Hartranft from the post-office to the custom house, he would likely have been content; but when it involved a new postmaster with hundreds of appointments usually good for the control of their precincts, he halted until he could see what was to follow the change in the Collectorship. The President and cabinet sympathize with Sherman in his yet irritating wounds received at Chicago, and Sherman is inclined to square up some open accounts, much to the disgust of some of the Pennsylvania managers; but Cameron is disposed to think all summer over the matter before he decides to confirm appointments made without consulting him."

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT.



WASHINGTON.

Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17, '80.

The serenade to General Garfield at his hotel last night, was a brilliant affair. Although but a short time was allowed for preparation, it will rank as one of the most successful political demonstrations ever held in the city of Washington. There were 10,000 people in attendance, and the enthusiasm and cheers at the mention of prominent names was deafening. Speeches were made by Attorney General Devens, General Garfield, Hon. George M. Robeson, Ex-Secretary of the Navy and now a Representative, Senator Williams, of Wisconsin, General Logan, and others. Altogether the affair was a complete success, and the enthusiasm in this truly national city is an index to the feeling of Republicans all over the land.

The Democratic mud slingers who have been trying to injure General Garfield by a republication of scandals disproved and forgotten long ago, have got to work early this year. They have, in fact, burnt all their powder before the battle. When the Cincinnati nomination is made, I doubt not but that all their energies will be taxed in keeping the filth from their own doors. The charge of General Garfield being implicated in the Credit Mobilier, criminally, is denied by Judge Black, a prominent Democrat, and the salary grab and DeGolyer pavement charges have been nailed as lies. It is the chief endeavor of the Democrats to put the Republicans upon the defensive in the matter of General Garfield's record. But as his record needs no defense some one will be disappointed.

Congress adjourned yesterday. The closing scenes were very quiet, and unusually orderly. The Senate remained in executive session until within a few minutes of the adjournment hour. The House did nothing of importance, but sat waiting until 12 M. With the close of this Congress, remembered as it will be for its exhibition of Democratic blunders and neglect of the public business, let us hope that the reign of the Democratic majority is ended. They have passed no laws for the public good, but on the contrary their efforts have been directed only to secure party advantage, and to attack those industries which have grown up under and been fostered by the Republican party. The President's veto of the deputy marshals bill was not read in the Senate, but the marshals will be appointed according to law and their salaries paid by public spirited citizens.

The census of the District of Columbia has been completed, and shows a population of 175,000, a large increase over the census of 1870.

Congress, a few days before adjournment, passed a law granting pensioners receiving a pension of $50 per month an increase to $72 per month. PHIL.

THE National Prohibition Convention was composed of one hundred and forty-two delegates representing twelve States. The work before it was easily and speedily accomplished. Neal Dow, of Maine, was nominated for President, and an Ohio man named Thompson for Vice-President. The platform charges upon both the Republican and Democratic parties numerous sins of omission and commission in connection with the liquor traffic and holds them about equally responsible for the drunkenness, pauperism and crime which prevails throughout the land. When the Prohibition party comes into power we shall have no more crime and misery, but that day seems about as far in the future as the millenium.

BOSS KELLEY is a true Irishman. What he hates he hates with his whole heart, and having devoted the gall that is in him to hating Samuel J. Tilden, he is resolved never to abate in that feeling. I was reported in a letter to a Baltimore paper that Mr. Kelley had settled his differences with Mr. Tilden. The former now hastily comes forward to say that there is not a syllable of truth in this report. He is Tilden's opponent, now and forever. Under no circumstances will he change or temper this opposition, but, on the contrary, he will add to its fury at all times and in all places until it has either ruined its object of hate or sunk into the grave with the heart that holds it. John's game behind his shillaleigh.

WITH few exceptions, the Southern Democratic press pronounce Garfield a strong candidate and a sound man.

JUDGE BLACK'S letter on General Garfield is not a sugar-coated pill for the Democracy, by any means.

INDIANA, after all, seems not to have been taken out of the list of October States. The Indiana State Supreme Court Friday rendered an opinion to the effect that the constitutional amendments voted on at the last election had not been constitutionally ratified, because they had not received a majority of the total votes cast at the election. Many people voted for the ticket who failed to vote on the amendments, but of those who voted on the amendments a large majority were in favor. The court, however, holds that the amendments to be ratified required a majority of the highest vote cast at the election.

The chief of these amendments was one changing the time of the State election from October to November, when the general elections are held in other States. This decision keeps Indiana where it was. It is safe to say, however, that whatever legal technicalities may be in the way, the feeling of the people is for a change, Democrats and Republicans alike sharing in it, and the change will yet be made—if not this year, at another time. With Indiana and Ohio as October States, the opening of the Presidential battle becomes additionally interesting.

ENGINEERING skill will now be attracted to an effort to overcome the difficulties and the dangers of the ascent of the Swiss Alps by means of a railroad. The perilous and picturesque paths in the ascent of Vesuvius have all been overcome by a railroad, something like that on the White Mountains in this country. The Horse-shoe bend on the Alleghenies is not the least of the triumphs in engineering skill in overcoming ascents like these. But when a road comes to be built over the Alps there will be tested whether the engineer is able to cope with so great a force or obstacle in nature. It is the business of the civil engineers more than any other class of men to deal with these forces of nature, to study its elements and devise the means and channels and avenues whereby and over which men can derive benefits therefrom, and it is a singular fact that among this class of students there are so few carpers at Divine revelation. The latest achievement of the engineer in building a railroad up the side of Vesuvius may well be placed among the world's wonders equal to any of the famous seven which so long fixed the admiration.

WITHOUT a doubt the Middle and Southern States will be the great iron-producing localities in this country—and while the Eastern and Western States may progress as manufacturers of hardware, when it comes to producing pig iron Pennsylvania is destined always to lead the trade. The reason of this is contained in the cheap fuel of this State, our anthracite being a source of supply in this respect which no other portion of the country contains in similar quantities. The fact is well worthy of consideration among smelters of iron ore in this State, who can, when they so desire it, control the trade of the continent in this line of products.

SPEAKER RANDALL has his hand on the Pennsylvania delegation to Cincinnati as strongly as it is possible for any man to get hold of such a collection of elements, and if Tilden is withdrawn he will at once take his place. What then?

PENNSYLVANIA is the only State in the Union that will have three proclaimed candidates for the nomination of President before the Democratic National Convention—an officer of the regular army and two regular politicians.

THE latest ticket agreed on at Gramercy Park, so it is reported, was the following: For President, Samuel Jones Tilden, of New York; for Vice-President, Henry B. Payne, of Ohio.

THE New York Herald says Mr. Tilden just needs three hundred and eighteen more votes than he has got to insure the prize at Cincinnati.

Poetry.

Ode to the Cucumber.

Cool, crispy, verdant, luscious fruit,
Though scourged with witling's stripes,
For love thou need'st not press thy suit,
Thou holdest us with gripes.

What time thou'rt in the market place,
A dozen for a nickel,
Forbidden fruit with tempting face
To get us in a pickle.

Or lying near the garden path,
Some simple lad in frolic,
Purloins thee, bringing down the wrath
Of conscience and of colic.

Or sliced in vinegar in haste,
Thou makest all food sweeter,
Thus doubling up the joys of taste,
And doubling up the eater.

Child of the dew, from Asia's clime,
Dyspeptics may deride us,
We'll not expose thee in our rhyme,
Thy wrongs are all inside us.

Well may revenge heal all thy smarts—
A vengeance gastronomic;
Thine, unlike crimes that weight the heart,
Lies heavy on the stomach.

Thy slain are scattered o'er the earth,
Puissant ku klux cumber:
Thy form, with praise of vanished worth,
Should mark their place of slumber.

And shall we rear this fruit again,
And of it be partaker?
We taste, and answer in our pain,
"Yes, we've put in an acher."

Our Story Teller.

MAY GRAY'S "BEAUTY."

It was the old story of Mary and her lamb over again; only it wasn't a lamb, it was a dog—a black dog, too; and sweet May Gray, though innocent and young, was not the simple child of the story; perhaps, after all, similitude lay merely in May's pet following her everywhere. Everybody said he was the most absurd-looking pet any one ever had; he was exactly like an animated ball of dirty wool, but May delighted in him.

Many were the troubles that dog led her into; but the greatest one, in fact the most severe trial of her life, came one bright Sunday morning. As she lifted her devout little head from prayer, and looked up at the young minister, who was to preach his first sermon in Blooming dale that day, what should she see but Beauty, as her pet was most inappropriately christened, snuffing at the pulpit stairs. She could scarcely credit it; she looked down at her hymn-book, though she had lost the place, then glanced up again; Beauty was slowly ascending the stairs; in a moment he was out of sight behind the minister's desk.

During that moment May suffered something of the sensation drowning persons are said to have; she had not dreamed that so much could be crowded into a moment. Presently he came in sight again, wagging its tail complacently, then, after walking around the minister, he disappeared in the vestry. Two or three of the small boys who occupy a corner of the gallery in every country church, and who are as assiduous in their attendance as the deacons or elders, tittered out loud at this, and the minister, who had been very much annoyed, quietly closed the door.

Compared with what she now felt, her sufferings before was as nothing; her face seemed on fire, her heart kept trying to get above her collar, as she listened to the scratching and snuffing at the vestry door, then she heard a low whine. It seemnd as if the service would never end, and when it did May didn't stay to be introduced to the minister, but her brother expected to catch it when she told her father that Beauty was out after she went to church.

The next week the minister called at the Grays. May was sitting by the parlor window and saw him coming. She noticed now, what had escaped her observation before, that he was very handsome; then, too, with what good taste he was dressed, so simple, yet elegant. She wished her father would wear a Panama hat like his.

Her mother was out, so she knew she must entertain him; and though some people—particularly old maids or mothers of several homely daughters—hinted that May Gray was somewhat of a flirt, she dreaded meeting him.

But it wasn t nearly so bad as she feared, and before he had put his hat down on the hall-table, and came into the parlor, she felt quite at home with him. An hour passed away rapidly. He gave May a laughable account of his annoyance the Sabbath before and said:

'I wonder whose dog it is; the poorest specimen of a canine I ever saw.'

May keep a silence; she felt herself guilty both as regarded Beauty and the minister, and she was quite relieved when he bade her farewell and turned to take his hat. But his hat was not there. He looked under the table and behind the door—no hat was to be seen.

'Tom could not have did it,' said May, indignantly. 'He is not to blame this time, for he has gone fishing.'

Then she called the servant girls, but they had not been in the hall. What was to be done? It was not clerical for him to go home bareheaded. May suggested that he wear one of her father's hats, and it then seemed the only thing that could be done, so he walked off conscious that May stood behind the parlor window laughing at him, and he expected every moment that it would slip over his ears and rest on his shoulders.

He didn't make any more calls that afternoon, but shut himself in his study, and, I am afraid, meditated more upon the 'slings and arrows of outrageous fortune' than upon the text he had chosen for his sermon—'Let patience have her perfect work.' Alas for the blindness of the human! He had fancied, when he decided on that text, that he could draw one or two illustrations from his own life; now he was not worthy to speak of it to others.

The next morning he received a note of apology from Mr. Gray, accompanying the gift of a new hat.

When Tom came home from his fishing excursion, he found Beauty in the back yard playing with something that looked like a hat. He stopped to examine it, and found it was part of a handsome Panama hat.

May was in the dining room when he came in, and told her what he had seen.

'Oh, Tom,' she said, 'I'll do anything for you if you won't tell a soul that Beauty did it!'

Tom was of a practical turn of mind, and inclined to be mercenary. He could not see why May didn't want it told. However, on a promise of a new jack-knife he agreed to keep mum.

Tom held to his part of the contract faithfully, except a few mysterious winks. and when Mr. Morwood sat in the parlor with his mother and May, he would practice gymnastics of a peculiar kind where no one but May could see him.

When Paul Morwood rose to read the first hymn on that eventful Sabbath, a feeling of human loneliness fell upon him; there were no eyes looking at him through the glasses of hopeful affection, and in the days that came after he felt greater the unhappiness of being surrounded by strangers: but gradually he began to find at the Grays an atmosphere of home. They were sympathetic friends and of wide culture. Tom, with his boyish pranks, was an element; and May—he had not yet acknowledged how much of the attraction lay in her presence.

Strange as it may seem as frequent as were his visits there was one member of the family he had never seen—Beauty. May seemed to have taken a dislike for the once loved pet.

One morning he called in haste to ask May if she had seen a handkerchief he dropped there the evening before; he said it was one he valued because his sister had embroidered his initials on it, 'and it was the last thing she ever did for me,' he said. May had noticed the crape on his hat; she searched everywhere for the handkerchief, but in vain.

'You seem destined to lose something almost every time you come here,' said May. And he smiled to himself as he answered 'Yes.'

Not long after Tom came running into the parlor with a fine cambric handkerchief, on one corner of which Mr. Moorwood's initials were embroidered.

'I found this in the kennel,' he cried. 'Beauty was tearing it into strips.'

'Beauty?' said Mr. Moorwood.

'Yes,' replied Tom. 'May's pet dog; the cur you know that you shut up in the vestry. I tell you, though, wasn't May scart! She told my father if he didn't give it to me for letting Beaut out, that she would. But May couldn't kill a fly. You ought to see her take 'em out of the milk, and let 'em dry on her finger,' and then Tom's moral sense being remarkably undeveloped, he added, 'I've lost the knife you gave me, May, and mother knows all about the net—so I will tell. He tore up your hat, Mr. Morwood. I saw him, but didn't know what it was till too late, and May, she hired me not to tell.

May had stood perfectly quiet, looking imploringly at Tom, while the young savage told the story through. Then she ran out of the room, and did not stop until, out of breath, she reached her own apartment, and sat down for a good cry.

Her mother, she knew would make apologies enough. She did not care what was said, only she did not wish to see Paul Morwood again. What must he think of her and her silly performances.

'Oh, I wish you were some one else so I could shut you up,' she said to herself.

When may came down to tea that night there were conspicuous indications around her eyes, and her nose was red. Happily Tom had taken his supper in his hand and gone to watch over his young chickens.

Days went on, and May kept her resolve not see the minister. When she saw him coming up the path she she vanished. She hurried out of church before he had an opportunity to see her. Then he began to realize how interested he had been in her; how he had delighted to watch her smiling face; how he looked to her for an inspiration that only her presence gave; and he knew that in losing the hope of winning her he lost that which had added to his life for months past a brightness, a sweetness that it had never known.

He had spent a year only at Bloomingdale when he received and accepted a call to a church in a distant city. Every one could see that a change was good for him, so thin he had become.

It happened, somehow, that when he went over to the Grays to bid them goodbye, May sat alone by the same window in the parlor where he saw her for the first time. She was very much embarrassed as she rose to meet him.

'I came to say goodbye to your mother. I did not hope to meet you, Miss Gray,' he said.

May blushed, and stammered something they both knew to be untrue, about not having met him more frequently, and regretting that her mother was not at home.

'Why do you leave Bloomingdale?' asked May, trying to say something commonplace.

'I think I may tell you the whole reason,' he said, with a look of entreaty. 'My illness is, of course, part of it; but my life here has been a continued disappointment to me,' and then watching the sweet face opposite him, he added, 'Oh, Miss Gray! May! Why have you been so unkind to me? I used to think you were my friend!'

'Oh, I am! I am!' said May.

He went on without noticing her little exclamation.

'I used to fancy that in time you would learn to care for me.'

'I do! I do!' cried poor May, forgetting everything at that momoment except him—her love for him—her wish that he would not go away until he knew truly that she loved him.

He looked at her a moment, and read the whole story in her glowing face; and an hour later, when Tom came into the hall, followed by the dog, and saw a tableau in the parlor he said sagely to himself, 'Hat, handkerchief and heart;' for Tom is deep in the study of English literature, and his conversation is embellished with quotations from Spencer, and alliteration especially takes his fancy.

Three months later at the wedding breakfast, Tom asked his sister if she had seen Beauty within a week, 'because, if you haven't, you never will,' and to her look of astonishment he added, 'I didn't give up about the old cat that caught the chickens; I watched for her, saw her come out, and took aim, fired and shot—Beauty!'

"School is Out."

A day or two since a withered up little old man entered the Central Station and asked to be sent up as a vagrant, adding as he took a chair:

'School is out and vacation will last forever.'

Being questioned, it was found that he journeyed here on foot from New England, and was out of funds and broken in health.

'I'm sixty-seven to-day," he said, as he took off his hat, 'and I've been a school-teacher exactly forty-one years. First class in history stand up. What is a prison? A place where an old pedagogue can lay his bones after a life of hard service. Correct, my son. What is old age? Old age is that period in life when you can't help anybody, and are therefore left without help yourself. It is better to be a young dog than a poor old man. Correct again. You may take your seats.'

'So you are a school teacher?' queried the captain.

'For forty-one straight years I've coaxed, flattered and pounded knowledge into the human cranium. I broke this finger in jerking a Vermont scholar over his desk; this scar above the eye I got from a New Hampshire mother for whaling her son; I was bitten here on the back of the hand in Massachusetts; this scalp wound was received in Rhode Island when I started to lick forty-seven boys for looking out of the window at a circus procession. I can count up twenty-five scars as certificates of my profession.'

'And you've had to quit?'

'Yes. They don't want old teachers like me any more. Everywhere I go I'm told that I'm too old. I'm out of funds, out of friends, out of a job, and I'll think I'll take sixty days in the work house for a bit of a change.'

'Did you have good success as a teacher?'

'Yes, up to fifteen years ago. My plan was my own. When I had to ask a boy three days running how many States were there in the Union I quit smiling and coaxing and tied him in a hard knot in about forty seconds. I also believed in pulling hair instead of using a whip. Land save! I could lift the tenth boy in natural history off his seat by the hair of the head and let go before he missed me off the platform. I never made a boy sit on the dunce-block in my life. I humbled him by fastening a spring clothespin to his nose. I had various ways of bringing out information as to the early settlement of New England, and longest rivers in America and the highest mountains in Europe, but this modern sweet-milk way of teaching has laid me on the shelf. Lock me up and give me about sixty days in the work house."

He was given a cell, and after a few minutes was heard calling out to himself:

"The class in grammar will have for its next lesson the sentence, 'In a prison cell I sit.' School is now dismissed."

Auber, the great composer, when well advanced in years, descended the stairs of the Grand Opera House, one day, leaning on the arm of a friend nearly as old as himself. As they hobbled cautiously down, the maestro's friend said: "Well, well, Auber, we're getting pretty old." "Yes" replied Auber, smilingly, "but we must expect it. It's the only way to live a long time."

A Russian countess parades the streets of Nice escorted by three large bloodhounds of quarrelsome disposition.

The Fiend and His Lawn Mower.

"Whirr-r-r-r-r!"

Blast him!

"Z-z-z-z-z-z!"

Blast him again!

"Rr-rr-rr-rr!"

Turn over in bed and vow that you will shoot his hens, poison his dog and leave fish bones where the cat will get them and choke to death.

Who?

Why, the triple-plated, bomb-proo, iron-coated and hard-hearted next door man, who went to bed at sundown for no other purpose than to get up at 5 o'clock and gallop his old lawn mower around!

"Rattle! Whirr! Bang! R-r-r!"

Oh, he's there! He simply stopped for a moment to spit on his hands and get ready for a new twist. Just 5 by the bells, and some fool o a doctor told him that the morning air is good for him! He knows that he is disturbing every man, woman and child within a block of him!

"Clickety-te-clickety-click-click-click!"

There he goes! He's got his coat off, his pants in his boot legs, and he's thinking how nice it must be to live in the country and canter around over the dew wet sward. Country be hanged! Lawn mowers and next door neighbors be hanged! The man who sold him that mower warranted it to be noiseless. Just remember that when you get to shooting! Noiseless, oh, yes!

"M-m-m-m! Z-z-z-z!"

The baby wakes up with a howl. Why shouldn't he? Can a baby stand more than a horse. Everybody wakes up. If you think people can sleep on and dream of the gates of Heaven while a man is pounding sheet iron with a hammer you have lived in vain.

"Gur-r-r——!"

Good. His old machine has hit a stone. Hope the contact has wrenched off every wheel, twisted every spring out of place, and flung the villian head over heels against the fence! Nobody but a villain would have a lawn mower in the first place, and nobody but a mutton head would go sloshing around on an empty stomach in this malarial climate. His health. What is his health compared to the peace of his neighbors? Who cares whether he gets fat and lives on, or grows lean and dies. He ought——!

"Clickety-te-click click-click!"

There he goes, the old machine making more noise than ever! Hit him with a brick? No, don't do it. Such a man as that couldn't appreciate a decent clip on the ear with a missile! Draw a bead on him with a shot gun? Never! Keep your ammunition for owls. Owls have sense enough to stick to their roosts until 7 o'clock. Argue with him? Not much! You couldn't convince him that he ought to be run over by a drove of Texas steers any more than you could make a Turk believe that he ought to pay 100 cents on the dollar.

"Cur-g-g-g-g! Bang! Rattle-r-r-r! Rip!"

Let him alone! There is a Providence, and that Providence sometimes gives a villain rope to play with, just to see him squirm when he is brought up with a sharp turn. That mower may explode. If not, the morning air will bring on sore throat, toothache, chills and neuralgia. May he have them all jump on him at once and stand by him like an Indian's memory, and may every neighbor whom he has disturbed by his villainous noise grow fat and sleek and rich and live to beat him for the only office he ever cared for!

Preaching in Texas.

Texas preachers are said to be very eccentric, and their mild unnaturalness has given rise to a great many remarks and a few stories. The following narrative, says a Little Rock paper, was told us confidentially by a slanderer:

A minister arose before a large audience, took his text, and began preaching. A brisk firing of pistols began on the outside of the church.

'Brother Deacon,' said the minister, 'I believe those fellows are casting insinuations at me. In fact, I am very nearly convinced,' he said, as a piece of plaster fell from the wall close to his head.

'I think, parson, it refers to some one else,' replied the deacon.

The minister raised a tumbler of water and was in the act of applying it to his lips when the glass fell, shattered by a shot.

'This is an inuuendo no longer,' said the minister, wiping the water from his vest. 'This is what I call an unmistakable thrust. The congregation will please sing while I go out and investigate this matter. Is there another preacher in the house?'

'Yes,' said a man, throwing down a stick which he had been whittling, arising and pulling at the waist of his pants like a man who had just straightened up after setting out a row of tobacco across a broad field.

'Got on an extra?'

'Yes.'

'Unlimber.'

The whittling preacher handed over a large Remington pistol, and which the insulted preacher took, and, drawing one from his belt, started out. After going there was an immediate improvement in the firing business. It was decidedly more life like, inasmuch as the deacons sat working their fingers. After a while the minister returned, and, placing an ear, and the nostril and half of the nose on the pulpil, remarked, 'He that hath ears to hear let him behave himself.' The sermon then proceeded without interruption.

—"Rocky Mountain beer" is sold in some of the upper counties. We presume "rocky" whiskey is the other name for it.

—Cows are still allowed to pasture in the public school yard. Better tear down the fence and turn the whole menagerie in.

—A sportive census enumerator calls his book of names a new edition of the "Conflict of Ages." Not an inappropriate title.

—The hours of labor at the railroad shops in Altoona have been increased from ten to thirteen hours, owing to a press of work.

—We notice that lukewarm Republicans around here are growing warmer. It is not in our line to attempt to explain the wherefore.

—A western girl, says an exchange, who was suddenly kissed by a married man has since become insane. Girls, what an awful warning is this.

—Archery is very popular in some of the surrounding counties. Our young folks should organize an archery club and keep up with the times.

—Mr. John Schall, one of Rock Springs oldest inhabitants, paid us a visit Thursday. He says the wheat and grass crops both will be short in his locality.

—Bogus circus agents are traveling about the State and fleecing all who place any confidence in them. Our merchants and others should be on the lookout for them.

—The year of 1880 is almost half gone. Girls, are you aware of the fact? You will not have another opportunity to capture some bashful young man for four years.

—Mr. F. P. Crider has purchased the milling machinery of Brown & Shouse's mill, at Lock Haven, and will remove it to his new mill now being erected on Wallace Run.

—Travel to Snow Shoe increases as the season advances. No more pleasant resort than Snow Shoe can be found in this section at which to spend a few of the summer weeks.

—Rattlesnakes are said to be very numerous along the banks of the mountain streams in Bald Eagle Valley. The disastrous mountain fires drove them to the streams for safety.

—Farmers, or others in possession of carriages or wagons, will learn something to their interest by calling on John Kinsley, at the Singer sewing machine agency, Allegheny street.

—A man by the name of Devling was fired out of a church in Pottsville recently for attempting to start a campaign song. He should quit Devling around such places, especially on Sunday.

—We have had no base ball club in Bellefonte this season, thus far, and consequently no fingers driven in, no noses flattened, nor any teeth battered in, and everything seems to be going to the dogs.

—Harvest time, the season of the year when the average farmer puts in nineteen hours a day, is close at hand. Wonder if we can't induce some easy-going farmer to take us for a month on trial to run a hay rake. Bids requested.

—A fashion paper before us says "striped parasols are taking the place of striped stockings." Now, whoever introduced such a beastly style as this has no more principle than a hard-boiled egg. Why, just think how a woman would look sailing down High street with a pair of striped umbrellas on. Away with the thought!

—The Republicans about town say there is no doubt about electing their ticket this fall, and the Democrats say there is no doubt about their being able to defeat it. With such an existing state of affairs, how is a fellow going to bet?

—Messrs. Lamb & Callaway have completed their contract of frescoing the ceilings of the rooms and hallways of the Bush House. Over five hundred ceilings were frescoed by these gentlemen, and in the highest degree of the art.

—Ratification meetings are being held all over the State, by the Republicans, and the Democrats will fall in as soon as their nominees are declared. Both parties are determined to make a hard fight this fall and the campaign promises to be brisk.

—The board walk on Water street leading from the Water Works to Reynolds' mill, or part of it, is in the worst possible condition. It is not only full of holes, but after every rain the passer-by is obliged to wade through several rods of mud and water that flows over the walk. It ought to be raised and put in proper condition.

—The spire of the Presbyterian church, which leans threateningly to the east, has been examined by an architect and pronounced unsafe. The arch above the altar is also reported to be in a dangerous condition. The architect says it will require a thousand dollars to make the necessary alterations and repairs to insure safety in the building, which amount will be raised by the congregation.

Tribute of Respect.

The youngest son of Fleming McCormick, Esq., and Malinda McCormick, while attending the normal school in Lock Haven met with a sudden death on the 25th of May last. He, in company with a number of his school-mates, went to one of the dams in the river for the purpose of taking a bath. Robbie, as he was familiarly known, sprang from a log in the direction of another, but missed it, or fell in some way upon his stomach on the log, no doubt hurting himself, and sank immediately into the river, his comrades being unable to relieve him soon enough to save his life. He was, however, rescued from the water in less than five minutes, but every possible effort to restore him failed.

This sad and sudden news soon reached the fond parents, and a sister living some six or eight miles distant. They became almost frenzied with grief at this startling intelligence; word was at once sent to the only other sister, recently married, and the effect upon her was intense. The only other brother lives in the far west.

Robbie was the idol of the family. He was kind, affable, winning, quick of perception, full of wit, and fond of learning. His favorite pursuit was literature. He was studious and faithful in his habits, and well he deserved to be loved by the family; he was not only the found companion of his home but of all his associates.

Thus have the parents, the brother and sisters been so suddenly bereft of their dearly loved one, scarcely 18 years of age. Truly could they exclaim like Young at the death of his favorite child, "Like blossomed trees o'erturned by vernal storm, the beauteous ruin lay."

The funeral was largely attended by relatives, school-mates and friends.

ZETA.

Some Pork.

The Sunbury Gazette gives the following account of an enormous porker owned by a citizen of Watsontown: "The largest amount of pork wrapped in one skin is now in the possession of Mr, Jacob Kramer, proprietor of the Mansion House, at Watsontown. The mammoth hog, of the Poland-China breed, Mr. Kramer has on his premises, and which is a great curiosity to all visitors, measures six feet two inches from the tip of the nose to the tail, eight feet in girth, and weighs nine hundred and twenty-five pounds. Mr. Kramer intends to make him weigh between 1100 and 1200 pounds by next fall. He is kept in a pen with three apartments, one of which is floored with cement, dished, so that the centre is lower than the sides, in which water is poured to keep this immense animal cool in warm weather. 'We will add that this hog was two years old last March."

If any of our farmer friends can produce anything in the hog line of like proportions we should be glad to hear from them.

A cold application to the bare feet such as iron, water, rock, earth or ice, when it can be had, is an excellent remedy for cramp. If the patient be seized in the upper part of the body, apply the remedy to the hands.

NEW ENTERPRISE.

ALEXANDER & CO.,

Agricultural Implement

AND

BELLEFONTE, PA.

They mean by this all the name imports, that is, to deal in and to furnish to farmers at the lowest possible price everything in the shape of an agricultural implement that farmers use, including SEEDS of all kinds.

At present we have on hand and are the authorized agents for the sale of the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW, made at South Bend, Ind. It is the best chilled plow now made; also the Keystone and iron beam plows, made at Centre Hall. No better plows than these can be had for the same amount of money. Also the Centre Hall Cornplanter. We need say nothing about the merits of this planter, as the 2000 now in use in Centre county demonstrates them to be the best.

HARROWS and CULTIVATORS of the latest improved patterns.

MOWERS, REAPERS and GRAIN BINDERS.—Of these we sell the Osborne, either as separate mowers, combined reapers and mowers, single harvesters, or as combined reapers and binders.

THE WHEELER, No. 6, as a combined machine, is the best machine of the kind in the market.

The greatest improvement of the age is the NORRISTOWN GLEANER AND BINDER. Call and see it. It is wonderfully perfect.

Any boy twelve years old, with one horse, will follow and bind all the grain that any reaper with side delivery will cut. It not only binds but gleans, and will save the price of the machine in one year by taking up from the stubbie that which is now lost.

The McSHERRY GRAIN DRILL either with or without broadcast hoes, with or without fertilizer and seed sowing attachments. It is the best grain drill for all purposes in the market.

The GEISER THRESHER AND SEPARATOR.—The reputation of this machine is so well established that we can say nothing about it that the people do not know. Any person wanting one, or in need of repairs for those now in the county, please call.

HEEBNER'S PATENT LEVEL TREAD HORSE POWER, for one and two horses, with Patent Speed Regulator. Little Giant Thresher and Cleaner.

Wagons, Carriages, Buggies and Phaetons.—We are agents for the sale of the celebrated CONKLIN WAGONS, the reputation of which is so well established; also of the CORTLAND PLATFORM SPRING WAGONS, Carriages, Phaetons and Buggies. All are warranted. Call and see specimens and examine catalogues as to styles and prices before buying elsewhere. Catalogues furnished on application.

PLASTER and FERTILIZERS. — Cayuga Plaster, finely ground, as good as the best Nova Scotia, at the low price of $7.00 per ton. Peruvian Guano sold on orders only. Phosphates always on hand. Special manures for different crops sold upon orders at manufacturers' prices.

POWDER.—We are Dupont's agents. Blasting, Sporting and Rifle Powder on hand and sold at wholesale prices; also fuse.

GRAIN.—After the growing crop is harvested we will be prepared to pay the highest market price for all kinds of grain.

COAL.—Our yard is always stocked with the best Anthracite Coal which we sell at lowest price.

LIME.—We make the best white lime in the State. Its properties for mechanical and agricultural purposes excel all others.

FAIRBANKS' SCALES.—We are their agents for Centre county and will supply all parties wishing good and true scales at their lowest prices.

We extend an invitation to everybody in want of anything in our line to call at our store rooms, opposite the Bush House, and see what we have, and learn from those in attendance more particularly the scope of our business. ALEXANDER & CO.

Is a sure cure for all the ordinary diseases of Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Swine. It cures and prevents Chicken Cholera. Your cow is certain to yield 25 per cent more and better milk and butter. Stock fattens on one-fourth less feed!

Being in possession of a large number of excellent testimonials, I subjoin a few:

I have been using your Cattle Powder for horses, cows, chickens and pigs, and find it a first class thing.—GEORGE BOND, Germantown, Pa.

Please send me half a gross of Cattle Powder. I have used two packs on my cow and chickens. The cow gave nearly twice the quantity of milk that she did before, and gave twice the amount of butter. My chickens were dying, but were cured immediately after I had used the powder. Yours truly, JONAS PASOUR, Dallas, N. C.

I have used and compared your Cattle Powder with all others, and must say it is the best for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, &c. I have tried it on poultry for many complaints, with success in every case.—JONATHAN WEAVER, Berrysburg, Pa.

Last summer you sent me a pack of your powder which I gave to my poultry, and have not had one droopy turkey or chicken since.—MRS. WM. KNAPP, Orange, N. Y.

Send me a pack or two of your Cattle Powder. The pack I got from you last winter cured the chicken cholera. I gave some of it to a neighbor and it cured his chickens.—JOHN WILLIAMS, Spruce Vale, Ohio.

DR. HALL'S

ELECTRIC BELTS.

For the cure of all nervous diseases without the least derangement of the patient's habits or daily occupation. This appliance exerts powerful and beneficial influence throughout the whole frame: is applicable to either sex, and affords instantaneous relief in the following diseases:

Rheumatism,
Neuralgia,
Dyspepsia,
Lumbago,
General Debility,
Headaches,
Dizziness,
Impotency,
Spermatorrhœa,
Sexual Exhaustion,
Self Abuse,
Premature Decay, &c.

These belts are the result of the profound research and experiment in Electro-Therapeutics, and by their peculiar construction, a continuous "galvanic current" is generated, which permeates the whole frame, and especially envelops the suffering parts with its gentle influence. This current assimilates closer to the nervous fluid than anything known to medical science—hence its potency as a curative agent.

Most especially is the application of electricity in this form beneficial to those disorders arising from youthful indiscretion, sexual excess, or dissipations of any kind, whereby the procreative powers are lessened and Impotency threatened. No false delicacy or sense of shame should prevent the sufferer, subject to restless nights, nightmare, dreams, palpitation of the heart, neuralgia, dimness of sight and other symptoms of nervous and physical debility, applying to the undersigned for relief.

These belts are light, perfectly flexible, and easily adjusted, all of which, together with their cheapness, renders them superior to any other form for the application of electricity, medicinally.

☞ 50,147 of these belts were sold in Europe in the year 1876.

"Electricity is Life,"

And no remedy can be compared to it for the treatment of IMPOTENCE and loss of nervous vitality.

This belt is recommended by the most eminent physiologists of this country and Europe.

"Ingenious, wonderful—a death-blow to the old system of dragging."—London (Eng.) Lancet.

"You have perfected a great blessing on suffering humanity."—Dr. Richardson, London, England.

"Wonderful for the restoration of exhausted vitality."—Dr. Ferrier, London, England.

"I cheerfully recommend Dr. Hall's Electric Belt, and consider it one of the greatest blessings to mankind that has been put before the public."—Dr d'Barr, Paris, France.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases, caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel, or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

KIDNEY WORT

The Only Remedy

THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON

THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power, to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Bilious pains and aches?
Why tormented with Piles, Constipation?
Why frightened over disordered Kidneys?
Why endure nervous or sick headache?
Why have sleepless nights?

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Just received, the largest and handsomest stock of embroideries from 1c a yard up, at Lyon & Co.

—Mr. Charles McClure, who has been clerking in Philipsburg since spring, has returned to Bellefonte, where he expects to remain for the present.

—How would a butcher's parade do for the 4th, ending up with a fatman's foot-ball contest. We commend the project to Assistant Burgess Sourbeck for his careful consideration.

—The Altoona Call also announces that the car works at this place will shortly be put in operation. The Call's stock of information probably consists of several resurrected rumors.

—Farmers, when in town, should not fail to call on Mr. John Kinsley, at the Singer sewing machine agency and examine the recently patented tire tightener. It is a good thing and every farmer should have one.

—A married lady, who lives near Bald Eagle, was taken violently ill at the depot Saturday evening. She was helped aboard the 5:30 train and went to her home under the care of the conductor. Her illness is said to have been heart disease.

—It was unusually quiet on the streets Saturday night, for Bellefonte We have noticed that on bright moonlight nights there is less drunkenness than on dark nights. Evidently the boys are afraid the moon will "give them away" so to speak.

—The market on Saturday was nothing to brag of. There was an abundance of meat offered but very few vegetables. Of good butter the quantity was small, but what was offered found plenty of buyers. But a few boxes of eggs were brought in.

—The picnic given by the Junior Order of United. American Mechanics at Valentines' grove on Saturday proved a very pleasant affair and was well attended. A large number of townspeople went out in the evening to "sling the musical heel."

—Monday afternoon a son of the Emerald Isle, in a boozy condition, stretched himself out on a cellar-door on Allegheny street for a snooze. Officer Montgomery came along a few minutes afterwards, and after waking the slumberer up by a vigorous shaking instructed him to move on. But the little old man from Ireland had no intention of complying with the officer's request, and immediately struck a fighting attitude, whereupon he was gently lifted from his rude couch and escorted to the cooler to reflect.

—Tens of thousands are suffering to-day from Kidney complaint without knowing what it is that makes them feel depressed and miserable. Day's Kidney Pad is the remedy that will remove the cause of your sufferings.

—The West Chester Republican appears this week in a new dress of handsome, clear type throughout. The Republican is one of the ablest conducted and most interesting weeklies in the interior of the State, and is well worthy the support of its readers.

—A small party of ladies and gentlemen from town, under the escort of Major J. L. Spangler, visited Nittany mountains and the Pennsvalley cave on Friday. A finer day for the trip could not have been had, and the party no doubt enjoyed themselves hugely.

—"Ocean Grove authorities propose to regulate bathing dresses this year in the interest of decency" says an exchange. According to that there must have been rather a "loud" style in vogue there last season. How is it, you Bellefonters, that were down there?

—The Altoona game and fish association has received one hundred Messina quail direct from Italy. They will be turned loose in the forests adjoining Altoona, and if nothing happens to them the sportsmen in that vicinity will have some valuable game to hunt in a few years.

—Logan Hose Company, accompanied by the Mountain City Band, in all numbering about sixty men, will give a grand parade on the morning of July 5th, at half-past six o'clock, preparatory to embarking on the train to participate in the firemen's parade in Altoona on that day.

—A Bellefonte statistician, who has given the matter some attention, figures up 126 old maids in Bellefonte. For a town of only 3,000 inhabitants this is a pretty "blue" showing, and if the man who gives the figures is found out by the ladies we wouldn't advise him to go trotting around the streets after dark.

—Joseph McCune, of Oakville, Cumberland county, was in the act of shutting the large doors of his barn on Saturday, when they blew shut with such force as to knock him down and in falling his head struck the doorsill, stunning him and causing his brains to ooze from his ears. He died the same night.

—A man attempted to fire the City Hotel, Altoona, on Tuesday night, by piling a mass of inflammable material against a back door leading into the cellar and setting fire to it. It was discovered by the hired girls and extinguished. It is thought it was done by a tramp, out of revenge, for having been refused food at the hotel.

—The Logan firemen are preparing for their visit to Altoona on the 5th. They will take the Undine's hose carriage with them, their own not being in proper condition for the trip. The company will no doubt make a fine appearance in the parade, with their new shirts and newly-polished hats and belts, and reflect credit on the town.

—William P. Fisher, the nursery man of Unionville, is putting a new roof on his barn and making improvements on his premises. Mr. Henry Hoover, of the same place, is moving his house back several yards from the street. He contemplates making several alterations for the purpose of engaging in the mercantile business.

—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lewisburg, Centre & Spruce Creek railroad, held in Philadelphia on the 8th inst., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Strickland Kneass; Directors, G. B. Roberts, Edward Smith, Wistar Morris, J. N. DuDarry, Eli Slifer, James Coburn and G. F. Miller.

—The editor of the Huntingdon Globe went to the Chicago convention and hasn't got over talking about what he saw yet. He thinks the western metropolis is a whopping big town and says he saw the awfulest big houses out there he ever did see, and lots of other strange sights. Huntingdon will probably lose him, now, in a few weeks.

—A minister relates his experience thus: I take pleasure in adding to your many testimonials, that last Thursday (Thanksgiving Day), not being able to preach on account of rheumatic pains in the shoulder, I bought a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, which, after using several times, relieved me wonderfully.

DR. B. PICK, Rochester, N. Y.

—Keep your bowels and kidneys in a healthy state by the use of Kidney-Wort.

An Aged Darkey.

Williamsport has a colored citizen named Dennis Hunter, who, if he lives until Christmas next, saysthe Bulletin, will have rounded out 109 years. He was born in Fauquaier county, Virginia, and during his life was sold as a slave six different times, $950 being paid for him in one instance. He has been married three times, taking his last wife when he was 77 years old. He is by trade a blacksmith.

—The Musical Herald for June is received, and is, as usual, full of the most interesting information in regard to music. It contains two choice musical selections. "Impromptu" is one instrumental piece, full of grace and beauty, by G. Merkel. "Father in Heaven, Hear us, Thy Children," arranged from Neukomn; the work and music of this piece are perfectly exquisite. The Musical Herald has already become a great favorite among music critics, and ranks among the first musical magazines of the country. Address, Musical Herald, Music Hall, Boston.

—The Raftsmen's Journal styles Welch & Sand's show the biggest humbug on the road. We seldom take the part of showmen when assailed by the press, for the reason that there are a great many shows traveling over the country that are deserving of censure. But in this instance we think the charge of the Journal is unjust. The company gave a very acceptable performace in Bellefonte, and the men all conducted themselves in an orderly and gentlemanly manner.

—At Sechler & Co., in the Bush House block, you can always find the largest and most complete stock of family groceries to be had in the county, and what is better still the goods purchased at this store are pure and genuine. The proprietors pride themselves on keeping nothing but the very best goods that can be purchased, and their hundreds of customers will tell you that they never bought an inferior article at this famous store.

—A family of ten persons, with a two horse team, drove from below Karthouse to Bellefonte, a distance of over 36 miles, to see the circus on Monday last. They started Sunday noon on their journey and arrived in town Monday morning in season to breakfast at the Garman House. In their estimation, evidently, show day in Bellefonte is an important occasion.

—The presses in the Watchman office are now run by one of the Nicholson water motors, manufactured in Williamsport. The press on which the paper is printed turns off 750 copies per hour, and can easily be run up to greater speed if desired. The motor gives a steady, even power, and is a great improvement on the turbine wheel heretofore used in the office.

Don't Spoil Your Butter.

Farmers, don't run the risk of spoiling your butter by using carrots, annatto or other cheap colors, when Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Perfected Butter is so much better. It is harmless as salt, and never gives a dull reddish color, or any taste or smell. It is made in a strictly scientific manner by a skillful chemist, and can always be relied on.

SUMMARY OF THE NEWS.

CLEVELAND, O., June 18.—The Prohibition convention was held here yesterday. One hundred and forty-two delegates, representing 12 States, were present. Rev. Dr. Miner, of Boston, was chosen president. The principal speeches were delivered by Dr. Miner and Judge Black.

For candidate for President of the United States, Neal Dow, of Maine, was nominated by acclamation, and for Vice-President, A. H. Thompson of Westerville, Ohio.

The platform adopted denounces the manufacture, sale or importation in this country of all liquors; pronounces liquor injurious to the health and a destroyer of peace and prosperity. It pictures the evils of intemperance, holds it is neither polite or politic for a State to afford legal protection to any traffic or system which tends to waste the resources, to corrupt social habits and destroy the health and lives of the people. It denounces the Republican party in unmeasured terms for permitting the existence of 5,650 distilleries, 2,830 breweries, and 175,000 places of sale of these poisonous liquors, involving an annual waste of $150,000,000, and a sacrifice of 100,000 lives. It arrainges the Democratic party as unfaithful and unworthy of reliance or trust on this question, and closes by recognizing "the providence of Almighty God, who has preserved and prospered us as a nation and asking for His spirit to guide us to ultimate success."

The National Committee was then appointed, the Pennsylvania member being J. B. Morgan.

DENVER, Col., June 18,—The State Greenback Convention met here yesterday and nominated Rev. A. J. Chittenden for Governor, Albert Campbell for Lieutenant Governor, W. King for Secretary of State, John Pickett for Treasurer, and L. T. Haldingsworth for Attorney General.

Mooney, the leader of the Leadville strike, was arrested here last night while addressing a meeting called to indorse the strike. No resistance was attempted.

LANCASTER, June 18.—The body of Charles Winower, an unmarried man about 25 years old, was found last evening in the Conestoga creek near the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. He had been missing since Tuesday, and it is supposed that he was thrown off the bridge by a passing train while he was under the influence of liquor.

LANCASTER, June 18.—Willliam L. Ahler, a wealthy retired citizen of Lebanon, aged 56 years, committed suicide by hanging himself late last night at the residence of Geo. W. Hensel, at Quarryville, this county. An inquest was held, and the jury brought in a verdict of suicide while laboring under a fit a temporary insanity.

CINCINNATI, June 19.—The Enquirer of this morning says editorially, that its editor has received a personal dispatch from Horatio Seymour and that it violates no confidence in printing the following extract:

"I cannot accept the nomination if it is made, under any circumstances. I am not able to do the duties of any office. I hope my name will not be presented at Cincinnati in any way. I have never said I would accept a nomination, nor have I knowingly intimated I would. I rely upon you to set me right with the delegates.

[Signed] HORATIO SEYMOUR."

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 19.—Gen. James A. Garfield arrived here today at 12.10. He was met at the depot by a large crowd of people and made a speech of about ten minutes duration. Speeches were also made by Congressman Conger, of Michigan, and Williams and Humphreys, of Wisconsin. In compliance with a telegraphic request from Gen. Garfield Senator Cameron met him at the depot and accompanied him west.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—General John A. Sutter, the discoverer of gold in California and one of the earliest pioneers on that coast, died at Made's hotel, in this city, yesterday. He had been sick for several weeks with inflamation of the kidneys and died quietly in full possession of his faculties. The news of his death was at once telegraphed to his home at Litz, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, where his aged wife resides. His remains will be taken to Litz for interment.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 19.—Alexander James, foreman of the Indian Ridge colliery, who was arrested on Thursday and released on bail on charge of having drawn money from the company as wages for fictitious employees was rearrested this morning and placed under an additional $1,000 bail, an examination of the books having disclosed many names of men never employed by the company and extending back several months.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 19.—A most unprecedented state of things now exists at Adams, in the northern part of Berkshire county. Out of a population of about 4,000 fully one-third are prostrated with a severe attack of a disease which closely resembles cholera morbus. About 10 o'clock last night persons began to be attacked with violent purging vomiting. Whole families were prostrated, and scarcely a family escaped without one or more of its members being taken down. Three of the doctors in the place were soon running hither and thither, trying to answer the hundreds of calls, and the other doctor lay groaning in bed with the prevailing disease. The whole town was aroused.

CINCINNATI, June 21.—Mr. Tilden has formally withdrawn from the competition here. His letter of declination is a long one. It was brought here by Henry A. Tilden, and was read by Mr. Peckham at a meeting of the New York delegation. The letter is largely devoted to a discussion of the topic of fraud in 1876. It is a sort of farewell address to the Democratic party.

The canvass in behalf of the other candidates for the nomination is now proceeding with great activity. The friends of Speaker Randall have gained ground. The feud with Senator Wallace has broken out again, and the prospects of the Speaker have been considerably impaired thereby.

The friends of Mr. Payne claim that their candidate would carry Indiana in October and reduce the Republican majority in Ohio. His record in regard to the currency is criticised by others.

It is claimed by the supporters of Mr. Bayard that that gentleman will now have the largest vote on the first ballot. His canvass is being pushed vigorously.

Ex-Governor Seymour has written a letter to a friend of his by the name of Dr. Miller, of Nebraska, positively declining to be a candidate. His candidacy still meets with some favor, however. It is said that Iowa and Wisconsin will vote for him.

TILDEN DECLINES.

Mr. Tilden has written a letter to the New York delegation to Cincinnati in which he concludes as follows:

In renouncing renomination for the Presidency, I do so with no doubt in my mind as to the vote of the State of New York, or of the United Stases, but because I believe that it is a renunciation of re-election to the Presidency.

To those who think my renomination and re-election indispensable to an effectual vindication of the right of the people to elect their rulers violated in my person, I have accorded as long a reserve of my decision as possible, but I cannot overcome my repugnance to enter into a new engagement which involves four years of ceaseless toil.

The dignity of the Presidential office is above a merely personal ambition, but it creates in me no illusion. Its value is as a great power for good to the country. I said four years ago in accepting the nomination:

'Knowing as I do, therefore, from fresh experience, how great the difference is between gliding through an official routine and working out a reform of systems and policies, it is impossible for me to contemplate what needs to be done in the Federal Administration without an anxious sense of the difficulties of the undertaking. If summoned by the suffrages of my countrymen to attempt this work, I shall endeavor, with God's help, to be the efficient instrument of their will."

Such a work of renovation, after many years of misrule, such a reform of systems and policies, to which I would cheerfully have sacrificed all that remained to me of health and life, is now I fear beyond my strength.

With unfeigned thanks for the honors bestowed upon me, with a heart swelling with emotions of gratitude to the Democratic masses for the support which they have given to the cause I represented, and their steadfast confidence in every emergency, I remain,

Your fellow-citizen,
SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

As a Cure for Piles

Kidney-Wort acts first by overcoming in the mildest manner all tendency to constipation; then, by its great tonic and invigorating properties, it restores to health the debilitated and weakened parts. We have hundreds of certified cures, where all else have failed. Use it and suffer no longer.

Weakly and Sickly Persons.

Many persons who are weak and sickly at this season of the year are at a loss to no know what will restore their health. It has lately been found by experience that the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine is one of the best restoratives known. Physicians, clergymen and temperance advocates should encouarge the use of Port Grape and thus aid in the cause of temperance and moderation. It is especially recommended to families for its purity, exquisite flavor and healthy properities. Medical men certify to its valuable medicinal powers. Mr. Speer has been for years engaged in the raising of grapes and perfecting this wine, and it requires a four years process before it is fit for market.—N Y Baptist.

Zeller & Son has procured some direct from the vineyards. It is excellent for females, especially for those with nursing infants.

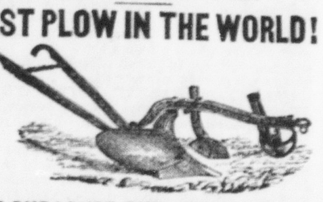
A NEW DEPARTURE!

BEST PLOW IN THE WORLD!



THE SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW CO.
of Syracuse, N. Y.

Are now putting on the market a Plow that is as much superior to any Plow heretofore made as the Plows of the past few years have been superior to those made half a century ago.

It combines all the excellencies of any Plow in use.

It obviates all the objections made to any other Plow.

In addition it embraces several new features of the greatest value, for which we have obtained exclusive Patents.

Its Beam, Clevis, Jointer Standard and Wheel Standard will be STEEL, and its mold board will be a composition of Steel and Iron chilled under a process for which we have also obtained an exclusive Patent. It will be called

THE SYRACUSE CHILLED STEEL PLOW

Its weight will be eighteen pounds less than our present styles.

A first-class Steel Plow, made in the ordinary way, full rigged, retails for twenty-two dollars. Inferior Steel Plows retail from sixteen to nineteen dollars.

The price of our new Plow will be but Seventeen Dollars, and it will be the cheapest Agricultural Implement ever sold.

Its mold board will outwear three of the very best kinds of the ordinary steel mold boards.

It will scour in soils where all steel plows and all other plows have hitherto proved a failure.

With this Plow will be introduced a corrugated Plow Point and Jointer Point, on which we have also obtained a Patent, and which is also a great improvement, both as regards strength and wear.

The Jointer can be shifted so as to take more or less land, and also more or less pitch, and it can always be kept on a line with the Plow.

The wheel will run under the beam or one side of it as desired, and always kept in line.

The beam is adjustable for Spring or Fall Plowing, and also for two or three horses.

The handles can be adjusted to accommodate a man or boy, on the same Plow.

It is a perfect Plow.

Wooden beams are going out of use because they shrink, swell and warp, and never run two seasons alike.

Iron beams are too heavy.

Malleable beams become demoralized and bend, which is much worse than to break.

A Steel beam is the necessity of the day. It is three times as strong and very much lighter than any other style.

When we say a Mold board is chilled, the farmers know it is so.

We do not palm off on them a composition of various metals and call it chilled metal.

We want agents for this new Plow in every town in this State.

We can give but a very small discount to them, but we will pay the Railroad Freight.

We propose to place this Plow in the hands of Farmers as near the cost of manufacture as possible.

It will be the best Agricultural Implement ever sold.

It shall also be the cheapest.

Persons therefore who are not willing to act as agents on the principle that "a nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling," need not apply for an agency.

No Plows on commission. All sales absolute.

☞ This is the only Steel Chilled Plow in the World.

Steel costs several times more than Iron.

But this Plow, full rigged, by giving small discounts, can be sold for Seventeen Dollars. Compare this price with that of any Iron Plow ever made.

It is cheaper than any other Plow now made would be at five dollars and a half.

Where there are no agents we will, on receipt of Seventeen Dollars, send a Plow to any Railroad station in the State and pay the freight. Address,

If the Mexican soldiers' pension bill were to become a law, the public expenditures would be increased six million of dollars.

Horatio Seymour says he can carry New York against any Republican, and then exhibits his discretion by refusing to be a candidate.

Secretary Ramsey made things very plain to the students and graduates of West Point military school the other day. It is full time that these young gentlemen had more such sound talk delivered to them.

Advocates of female suffrage do not make much headway in Congress. The proposition to incorporate an enabling clause in the Federal Constitution is no further advanced now than it was ten years ago.

Child stealing is becoming very common in many parts of the country, showing that the crime is really a profitable business. The mystery which surrounds all these cases is the proof that the miscreants who pursue "the business" are very expert.

Reports from different parts of the country are to the effect that the army worm has made its appearance and is playing havoc with the grain and vegetation of all kinds. Serious damage is anticipated, and there is no method known that will stop its ravages.

When General Garfield nominated John Sherman before the Chicago convention he said, "We want a candidate upon whom Grant and anti-Grant men, Blaine and anti-Blaine men can unite." Well, the convention agreed with him, but not in the way he expected and hoped it would do.

A canvass of the delegates to Cincinnati by the New York Herald shows 185 for Tilden, 117 for Bayard, 68 for Seymour, 84 for Hancock, 67 for Thurman, 44 for Field, 37 for Hendricks and the remaining few scattered among other candidates. Won't there be a high old time in that convention?

The Gladstone government is becoming more and more unpopular in England. The new Premier seems determined to antagonize his own party. It will soon be in order for him to retire and make way for a man who will be more in accord with the Liberal majority in the House of Commons.

Edmunds, who is jocularly called the "St. Jerome of the Senate," has been interviewed since he got home. He says he is glad the Presidential lightning did not strike him, as he has been in Washington long enough to know that the position is not at all an enviable one. Such statesmen are rare occurrences.

Increased earnings by nearly all the railroads of the country ought to be a sign of prosperity which should distribute equal benefits to the labor and capital employed in such enterprises. Freights during the month of May this year being nearly forty per cent. larger than the corresponding month of last year.

The Indianapolis Journal looks at it in this logical light: "Lincoln in early life was a flat boatman and rail splitter. Garfield was a canal boat driver. Lincoln afterward studied law, so did Garfield. Lincoln's first name was Abraham, Garfield's middle name is Abraham. Lincoln was nominated at Chicago, so was Garfield. Lincoln was elected, and so will Garfield be."

Cuba, as a gem in the crown of Spain, is the most costly in the diadem. Within a week Spain has added $75,000,000 to her Cuban loan, a debt which now aggregates nearly $400,000,000, and this is only one item charged to the same source of expenditures. In the event of Cuba being annexed to the United States, an occurrence always among the possibilities and probabilities, all this indebtedness would be wiped out.

The conduct of the colored cadet at West Point, since the investigation, has not been that of a guilty, perjured wretch. The excellent examination he passed disproves the theory that it was to gain sympathy and assist him to get through in spite of defective study. It will take a more impartial tribunal than that which tried him to convince the American people that he was guilty. Let the colored man have fair play, even if it be at the expense of a lot of blue blooded young gentlemen, offshoots of the first families of America.

Estimates based upon completed census returns in a number of districts in Philadelphia indicate a population in that city of a little over nine hundred thousand. If this should be correct, it will show not only a large numerical increase, but a larger ratio of increase than the city has had for many decades, and will sustain the accuracy of the census taken by the city authorities in 1876. The ratio of increase will be about 33 per cent. for the last ten years.

War between Chili and Peru, like the revolution in Cuba, is of a chronic order, unceasing and unchanging so far as results go, except it is in the former connection to increase the price of quinine, a thing more harrassing to billious people all over the world, than effect the belligerents in are called to endure through its operations. What the end of the conflict between Chili and Peru will be no one now can tell. Both powers are as nearly played out as it is possible for a Spaniard to become and still show signs of life, and each delights in throat cutting. Under such circumstances this South American war will go on, as such collisions have heretefore done, until the last battle is between two men.

After having gobbled Bosnia as a fault of her masterly inactivity during the Turko-Russian war, Austria now signifies her willingness to take care of Albania. It is represented that the Albanians yearn after the Austrian control with an exceeding desire; and that they express a determination to wade in their own blood before they will permit themselves to be joined to Montenegro, as provided in the treaty of Berlin. The fact that the information of the way the Albanian heart is fired comes through Austrian sources, and is accompanied by Austria's generous offer to solve the difficulty by annexing that large and fertile province, will cause the proposition to be looked upon very coldly by the other European powers who have a finger in the Turkish pie. The probability is that the whole thing is an Austrian intrigue.

Many people in this country are of the opinion that the action of the French government in banishing all Jesuits, and closing the schools where they taught, is a persecution so harsh and heartless that its ultimate effects will be injurious to the Republic. We do not know how this can be, but it is not difficult to understand that what the Jesuits did was in direct assault of the Republic. These priests, as a class, were wedded to the empire. A Jesuit never flourishes in a Republic. He lives best under the most rigid rule of imperialism. Hence, every school taught by a Jesuit was a nursery in the interest of the empire—a forge at which weapons were made to destroy the Republic. There are no compromises to be made with such people. What they set themselves to do must be done, wholly, solidly, certainly. To do it, they are ready to die—to prevent it, they must be made to die or depart the country. The Republicans of France know all about this, and have acted accordingly. To save the Republic, they were compelled to banish the Jesuit. He could not be dealt with in compromises. His faith never changes. His allegiance is at war with all earthly power. He denies all authority outside of his order. Republican France knows this, and has acted wisely in ridding herself of her wily foes.

The terrible disaster on Long Island Sound will do much to destroy popular confidence in the Sound lines of pleasure steamers. These lines, running between New York an Boston, have been great favorites with summer excursionists, and by reason of low fares carry thousands of passengers on each trip. It is not unlikely that owing to the brisk competition and insufficient remuneration these lines have sacrificed safety to gaudy decorations that might serve as an enticement to travelers. Although the collision which has sacrificed many lives occurred in a heavy fog there seems no good reason to absolve the officers of the boat from blame. Indeed it is reported that the lost steamer was in charge of an inexperienced captain, and it is certain he was a coward and had command of an incompetent crew, for no sooner had the accident occurred than the captain leaped into a life-boat, leaving his passengers to look after themselves. The sailors, it is related, behaved in the most inhuman manner. Following their captain's example they appropriated the life boats and beat back the frightened passengers, in one case striking an old woman who had grasped the gunwale of the boat on the hands until she let go and sank beneath the waves. The lost steamer was but a floating tinder box, and its life boats and life preservers were in such condition as to be unfit for use. There is no doubt that the Stonington steamship company is responsible for this disaster to one of their vessels, and if the law does not hold them amenable the public should by withdrawing their patronage.

Can Women Drive?

"Isn't it rather singular that women never learn to drive a horse properly?" remarks an irate man as he inspects a tired animal, with the bridle over its ears, and the bits halfway down its throat.

"But women can drive," cries a champion of the sex. "Don't they drive seven or eight miles to market with vegetables or loads of hay? Don't they take their babies out to ride whenever they can get hold of a horse? Why there never was a woman who couldn't drive, and some of them can handle a horse much better than their husbands can."

"Can women drive? and do you let them handle your best horses?" were the questions put to a good-natured livery keeper by an interested party.

"Drive," answered the letter-out of equines. "I should think they could, but as for letting them our best horses that is another matter. We have horses in our stable but few men could drive. We keep what we call safe horses for ladies' use—old family nags, sensible enough to trot along and mind their own business, and not fret if they are pulled two ways at once."

"Do you object to letting horses out for women to drive?"

"No, indeed; we have from twelve to fifteen ladies a week to come to us for horses, and we give them good ones, too, but somehow women fret horses when they drive them, so we don't give them lively ones. Now look at that sorrel," pointing to one from whom the harness had just been removed. "I let that horse this morning to a bit of a woman with wrists not bigger than my two fingers. I didn't want to let it go because it's such an ugly puller. I told her it had a mouth like iron, but she said she wanted to take an old aunt that was visiting her out to see the town, and she drove off quietly enough, but half an hour after I saw her coming down Woodward avenue like a streak of lightning, everybody running to get out of the way, and the old aunt hanging on for dear life. She just had the lines wound around those little wrists, and braced her feet against the dash board, and when she came to a corner whisked around it on one wheel. The rig came in all right, but that horse won't get its breath for a week.

"Do they often meet with accidents and have a smashup?"

"No. It's curious, but a woman will take a team through a dozen hairbreadth escapes and bring it back all right. We have any amount of trouble with men, who take our best rigs, get on a spree and break things all to pieces. A woman is either more cautious, or she will call upon every man in sight to help her out of the scrape. They are more apt to loose their heads in a crowd or collision, but there is most always some special providence at hand to help them. If you notice, the most disastrous runaways happen when some man has the reins."

The Ex-Empress in Zululand.

A London paper says that letters received from the Cape state that the Empress Eugenie, during her stay in Durban, was to occupy the same room in Government House, to ride in the same carriage, and eat from the same table as Prince Louis Napoleon did. Traveling in C tycarts she was timed to reach Itvope ozzi, where the Prince was killed, on the anniversary of his death. At the spot where the two troopers who fell at the same time as the Prince are buried, a ditch has been dug and a wall raised, so as to form a small cemetery, in which trees and violets were planted. Gebooda, the leader of the Zulus who attacked the Prince and his party, has given a solemn promise in presence of Major Stabb, that the graves should never be desecrated.

Miss Parloa's new book gives the following recipe for rice coffee: Brown rice as you would the coffee bean, and then either grind or mash it in the mortar; take half a cup of the ground rice and pour about a quart of boiling water over it, and let it stand about fifteen minutes; then strain and sweeten with loaf sugar and season with boiling milk. Drink of this freely. This is particularly nice for children.

An excellent article for removing paint or grease spots from clothing may be had by mixing four tablespoonfuls of alcohol with a tablespoonful of salt. Shake the whole well together, and apply with a sponge or brush.

SUMMARY OF THE NEWS.

Toronto, Ont., June 15.—Robert Anderson, arrested recently for passing counterfeit notes, has been identified as Harrison, the notorious counterfeiter. He confessed subsequently, and took a detective to the place where he had a number of plates buried. Among the plates are two $5 casts of United States legal tenders, for which the United States government have a standing reward of $5,000. The whole of the plates recovered are valued at $150,000. Harrison has been counterfeiting for thirty years, and his work was so well executed that it passed through the treasury at Washington undetected.

Chicago, June 15. — Dispatches from Wisconsin report much damage froom floods in the vicinity of Green Bay. The water in the city of Oconto is from two to four feet deep over two-thirds of the city. The damage to the city and lumber interests on the river is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. Business is entirely suspended. At Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, the whole business portion of the city is under water. A portion of it has been swept away, and what remains is in great danger. Many of the stores have fallen. No estimate of the loss can be gained now.

Cincinnati, June 15.—The heaviest rain storm known here for a long time visited this city between 8 and 11 o'clock last night. In three hours the rain fall was two inches, and since then enough has fell to make the total over three inches. All telegraph poles were prostrated north and eastward. It is reported that the depot at Hamilton, Butler county, Ohio, was struck by lightning and burned, but no particulars have been received.

A cyclone visited a point near Frankfort, Indiana, destroying many buildings. Several persons were killed and many wounded. Prostration of wires and stoppage of trains prevented any additional intelligence.

New York, June 15.—The steamship Queen, which arrived from Liverpool to day, reports that on June 13th, three hundred miles east of Sandy Hook, during a dense fog she came in collision with the steam ship Anchovia, bound from New York to Glasgow. Both vessels were badly damaged, and for awhile it was thought both would sink. The Queen took off all the Anchovia's passengers, one hundred and eight, and brought them here. The Anchovia has returned and is outside the bar awaiting assistance.

Winnepeg, Manitoba, June 15.—It is stated that the Indians who causelessly murdered young Grayburn, a mounted politician, at Fort Walsh, are at Fort Benton, in the United States, and that the authorities have refused to arrest them unless given a reward of $2,000. A single case of small pox caused much alarm about here.

Philadelphia, June 15.—Henry Augustus Boardman, D. D., a well-known clergyman and for over forty years pastor of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Walnut streets, died at his residence at seven o'clock this morning.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 15.—There was quite a snow storm in this vicinity to-day.

Washington, June 16.—Both houses of Congress adjourned at 12 o'clock to-day. All the regular appropriation bills were signed by the President in time to announce their approval to Congress, so that thus they have become laws.

A number of nominations failed to receive action and expired at the close of to-day's session, among them that of John F. Hartranft to be collector at Philadelphia.

In the Senate only a half dozen members were present at 9 o'clock, when the Senate was called to order. At 9:40 Mr. Randolph moved that the Senate go into executive session, and although it was announced that there was a message from the President on the table the motion was carried, the Republicans voting no and the Democrats aye, and the doors were closed.

When the doors were reopened at 10 o'clock the Senate considered House bills on the calendar. The eight hour bill was taken up, but Mr. Withers objected to its third reading, and it lies on the table. Efforts were made to take up the President's veto, but they were unsuccessful, and at 12 o'clock the Senate very quietly adjourned.

In the House, Mr. Carlisle, chairman of the committee to inquire into the charge of alleged bribery in the contested election case of Donnelly vs. Washburne, submitted the report of the committee, and asked that it together with the minority report be printed and recommitted. It was so ordered. Mr. Carlisle stated that he was authorized to say that the committee, after considering the testimony, has unanimously come to the conclusion that the anonymous letter was written and sent by H. H. Finley. Concerning Donnelly, he said for the majority of the committee, that they had not come to the conclusion that Donnelly had any connection, personal or otherwise, with the annonymous letter. Mr. Manning, of Mississippi, then submitted his report, signed by five Democratic members of the election committee, declaring Washburne not entitled to his seat, and that Ignatius Donnelly is. Mr. Keiffer, of Ohio, from the same committee, submitted another report that Washburne is and Donnelly is not entitled to a seat. Both reports were ordered printed and recommitted.

At noon the Speaker declared the second session of the Forty-sixth Congress adjourned. The sound of the Speaker's gavel announcing the adjournment was the signal for a general hand shaking and leave-taking, and soon the hall was deserted.

Salt Lake, June 16.—The Territorial Democratic Committee have adopted a resolution declaring "that it is the solemn duty of the government to provide a suitable law suppressing the practice of polygamy in the Territories, and proper officers to enforce it; that this gigantic evil which has so long flourished in spite of the zeal of Republican conventions and the apathy of the Republican administrations, shall cease."

The committee selected Allen G. Campbell to go as a delegate to Cincinnati to present the resolution and urge its insertion in the Democratic national platform. They also sent a copy of the proceedings to Mr. Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, with the request that he aid Mr. Campbell by every means in his power.

Chicago, June 16.—On the 5th inst., the dead body of Miles Meyer, the six-year-old son of E. E. Meyer, a well-to-do citizen of Willmette, a suburb of Chicago, was found in a cistern in his father's house. He had been missing over two weeks. Detectives say it is a clear case of murder, as the cistern was searched recently and the body was not there then. They have two theories—one that a female member of the family killed the boy in a passion and the other that he was abducted by enemies of his father, who subsequently becoming alarmed murdered the child and placed him in the cistern. A rigid examination is to be made.

Brattleboro, Vt., June 16.—The First National Bank of Brattleboro, one of the oldest institutions in the country, is reported insolvent. A meeting of directors was held this afternoon, and an investigation will follow. A suit for $200,000 damages has been brought in the name of the bank against the President, Silas M. Watts, who left town on Thursday last, and of whose whereabouts the directors profess to have no knowledge. It is feared that the surplus of the bank will be entirely wiped out, and possibly the deficiency may reach upward of $100,000.

Havana, June 16.—Neither the captain general nor the commandant general of the naval squadron has any knowledge that any foreign ship has been detained or searched by a Spanish man-of-war. They deny that there is such a man-of-war as the Nuncio.

Panama, June 7.—Chili's terms of peace are that Bolivia resigns all right to Atacama, and it is to be the dividing line between Chili and Peru. Bolivia's dominion on the east coast will cease forever. Peru's penalty for making war on Chili will be $200,000,000.

State News in Brief.

Scarlet fever is very fatal among the children of Shenandoah.

Work has been resumed on the new penitentiary at Huntingdon.

The Mercer county wool crop will amount to over a million dollars.

Samuel Billingsley was drowned in Franklin on Friday while bathing.

The Democrats of Warren county will hold their convention on June 30th.

Allentown expects to show up in the census report with a population of 17,000.

Work has been commenced on the erection of an iron mill at Lamar, Tioga county.

An Erie paper says that all the iron mills in that section will be at work in a few days.

Joseph Hardsock, of Brownsville, Fayette county was so badly injured on Friday while wrestling that he died.

The Lycoming insurance company has made an assessment of 25 per cent. to meet the losses of the Milton fire.

KEYSTONE

Tire Tightener,

A new and useful invention, patented November 18, 1879, which obviates all the difficulties and expense heretofore connected in keeping your wagon, buggy, horse rake, and seed drill wheels in repair.

First. By using this machine you can tighten your wheels without the aid of a blacksmith, as it is simply a device to attach to the spokes to adjust the felloe back to the tire, where it originally belonged; then insert a leather washer on the tenon of the spoke between the spoke and the felloe, which keeps the felloe up tight against the tire.

Second. By this method you can tighten the tire without removing the wheel from the wagon, or the tire from the wheel.

Third. By using this machine you will not dish the wheel, burn and split the felloe, or overheat the tire, as is too often the case when done by the old method, as you have the wheel under perfect control to make it just as tight as you want it, not running the risk of more shrinkage than was allowed, and thus ruin the wheel.

Fourth. With this machine you can remove a broken spoke and spring in a new one without injury to the wheel.

Fifth. A wheel tightened by this method will last twice as long as one tightened by the old method.

Sixth. You can save half the price of the machine on one job alone, allowing nothing for the time and trouble of taking the wagon to the shop.

QUESTIONS

Occasionally asked by persons not fully understanding the merits of the machine:

Question. Does this machine work hard?
Answer. No; a boy from twelve to fifteen years of age can work it as readily as a grown person.
Question. How does this method of tightening tires affect the hub of the wheel?
Answer. It tightens the spokes in the hub, as the machine is fastened to the hub and has the same downward pressure as it has to raise, thus should a spoke be loose in the hub it forces it back to its place and tightens it.
Question. If the wheel be felloe-bound, how do you tighten it without sawing a piece out of the felloe, as it is done by the old method?
Answer. Simply by adjusting the felloe back to its original place, then put the washer under it and keep it there.
Question. Will not a wheel tightened by this method soon give way and become loose?
Answer. No; as it is evident that wood upon wood will not last as long as wood on leather, by placing a leather washer on the tenon of the spoke, it avoids friction and bruising of the wood, thus proving all for the machine that we claim for it.

Eagleville Items.

Times good; not more than twenty paupers on the township, and the harvest abundant.

Harvest hands are going to be very scarce, on account of better wages being paid in the woods than farmers offer.

We are very much in favor of the Republican nominees (religiously, we mean), for one is a Disciple and the other a Baptist.

A strange humming sound was heard in the air a few evenings since, which upon investigation was found to proceed from a curious black bug in large numbers. We thought maybe they were delegates to the Greenback convention.

On the 26th inst. there will be an entertainment in the Baptist church, consisting of dialogues, speeches, tableaux and music. We expect a large crowd. Those who consider themselves children will pay 10 cents, and others 15 cents admission. It is under the leadership of Prof. Harsberger, principal of our graded schools.

My friend "Gib," in the absence of the clerk of one of our stores, could not resist the temptation to step to an open safe and deliberately confiscate a roll of national bank notes to the tune of some thirty or forty dollars, but was soon confronted by the clerk who succeeded in having him replace the cash. Gib seems to be somewhat disgusted since the adventure.

NUISANCES.

People sleeping in church during the sermon is a splendid nuisance, unless they pay their lodging bills.

Ten or fifteen caterpillars' nests on a single apple tree, unmolested, is a cultivated nuisance by the farmer.

To erect large pyramids of coal ashes at the corners of streets should be either chartered as lawful or removed.

Back yards ornamented and decorated with last year's pea brush and old fruit cans, is offered as a second class nuisance.

For a supervisor to have stones in a public road for ten or twenty rods and leave them lie there unbroken or uncovered by earth, is not only a nuisance but ought to be an indictable offense.

Dogs leaping out over the door yard fence with a loud bow-wow and snapping at the heels of horses have recently caused several runaways. A good shootist would probably rid the traveling public of this nuisance.

Horses and colts running loose on the public highway to the detriment of travelers with fractious horses, thus making it exceedingly unsafe for ladies or children either driving or riding on horseback, certainly suggests an act of Assembly.

Chairs in a store all occupied by loafing boys, while customers who may have walked five miles must stand and wait the pleasure of clerks who are having a private talk with some one at the end of the counter is the meanest kind of a nuisance.

LATROBE.

Unionville Brevities.

B. Rich has returned from West Virginia.

Mr. Cotlow recently sold H. W. Hoover 25 feet from one of his lots corner Plank Road and Chestnut streets for $350. Mr. Hoover has already made arrangements for the erection of a store and dwelling thereon.

The Unionville House is being thoroughly repaired. Mr. John Bing we see, is externally adding three coats of paint, which will render it attractive when completed. Thomas Taylor, proprietor, is fast earning a reputation as a hotelist.

Our town did not pan out very well to the show on Monday. We can in best our money more advantageously. We noticed a few wagons laden with human freight passing through town on their way to see the elephant, and it was supposed they were from the wilds of Huston township.

One day last week Mrs. Wilson, a widow lady, who resides three miles north of this place, was in town on business, and during her absence her dwelling was burned to the ground, with all its contents, except a sewing machine, cooking stove and chairs. Already our citizens are aiding her substantially. She will rebuild.

MACK.

Fell in the Race.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. William Myers, of Halfmoon, attended the circus at Tyrone, and came to Bellefonte on the evening train. He alighted at the depot on the side next to the race, and started for up town, but walked directly into the water up to his neck. Mr. Nelson Lucas fortunately happened to be near, went to his assistance, and with another man whose name we did not hear, after some hard lifting succeeded in landing the old man on dry land. Mr. Henry Montgomery then assisted Mr. Myers to Mr. McKee's house, where he spent the night, returning home on Wednesday.

A Berwick Mystery.

All Berwick is excited over the mysterious conduct of a strange looking woman who perambulates the streets of that burg at night. The following report comes from that place in regard to the matter: "Some months ago John Seybert, a farmer living near Berwick, Columbia county, was arrested and convicted of stealing a mule and selling the meat as beef. He was sent to the Columbia county jail, from which he subsequently escaped, and has not since been heard from. The people of that little town are now greatly troubled at the mysterious appearance of a strange looking woman, from no one knows whence. She preambulates the streets at night, and upon meeting a man generally raises his hat, peers inquiringly into his face, and, with the exclamation, "you are not the person I want," replaces the headcovering and tells him to go his way. She is always thickley veiled, and all efforts at recognition or capture have thus far proved fruitless; and recently when chased by a number of Berwick's citizens, she ran down the steep hill upon which the town is built and escaped by swimming the canal. The ladies of the place are greatly scared by the mysterious stranger, and it is said that they will not appear on the street after nightfall unattended by masculine support. It is thought that this woman is John Seybert, returned in disguise to persecute his former prosecutors.

Drowned in the Juniata.

William O. Cunningham, connected with the Philadelphia notion house of Rodgers & Chambers, met a sad death by drowning in the Juniata river, near Huntingdon, while on a fishing excursion on Saturday. He was crossing the river by the aid of the rope ferry at that point, and losing his hold he began swimming in the water. Presently his friends, who were watching his movements from the bank, heard him cry out appealingly, and then he sank to the bottom of the river. The body was not recovered, though immediate and persistent search was made until nearly midnight of Saturday. Mr. Cunningham was well and favorably known by Altoona's business men and young citizens. His mother resides at Huntingdon, and his remains were taken to her residence, where they were interred on Monday morning. A brother of the deceased was drowned in Huntingdon about ten years since.—Blair Radical.

Port Matilda Morsels.

Mr. F. Foust, of this place, was struck by a plank at a barn raising on the 12th inst., and badly hurt.

Our census enumerator tells us he finds people who say they were not born in this State, but in Halfmoon Valley or Huntingdon county.

Mr. John Downing is moving to our town, and will occupy the house belonging to Dr. Myers.

It is rumored that we are to have a big celebration on the Fourth of July.

JUD.

Hublersburg Notes.

J. W. Cooke's steam saw mill is now in successful operation, and making full time.

We can boast of a nimrod, fourteen years old, who killed two dogs with one shot, shooting cross fire.

A good number of our folks were at the show in Bellefonte on Monday.

Curtin & Co. are having a good run of ore, having washed twenty tons of clean ore one day last week.

EVAN.

—The Huntingdon News says a small worm is destroying much of the growing wheat in Oneida township, that county. The insect is found in the joint just below the head, and before being discovered kills the grain while it is ripening. A farmer informs us that one out of every eight stalks in his field has been destroyed by the insect. The worm, which bears resemblance to the wire worm, was never known to attack the grain before, and where it comes from is a mystery.

A Singular Sight.

About one hundred persons witnessed a curious spectacle at Lansingburgh, New York, recently. It was nothing more or less than a bird execution. An English sparrow had by some means incurred the displeasure of a pair of redbreasted robins resting in a tree near Rawson Hall. A fight took place between the sparrow and the robins on the rear of the roof of the Rawson Hall building. The sparrow fought pluckily until all at once one of the robins flew off and the other kept up the fighting. The robin messenger soon returned with a piece of cord that was soon wound round the sparrow's neck and the end held in the bill of one of the executioners. This done the sparrow was forced off the edge of the roof, and briskly attacked by the other robin. Thus situated the bird was comparatively helpless, and in a short time hung suspended by the neck, dead. After holding their victim and pecking him until assured he was beyond resurrection, the victorious robins flew to their nest in tree, singing merrily, as though glorying over their vanquished foe.

What was in Her.

It was nearly a year ago when Leadville was first showing what was in her. There were several newly made bonanza kings about Denver then, and among them was a man who had probably never had $20 in his pocket at one time previous to his strike. To him the possession of a watch was the natural evidence of a competence, and as he made more than a competence, he felt that the fact should be indicated by the purchase of several watches. These he had deposited in the Grand Central Hotel safe. One night he came into the office very much the worse for liquor, lurched to the bar and hiccoughed out to the clerk:

"Gimme a watch."

A timepiece was passed to his unsteady hands, but endeavoring to thrust it into his trousers pocket he let it slip and fall upon the floor. Without casting a glance at the fallen watch he lurched against the counter again, reached out his shaking hand, mustered all his faculties to the task of speaking and then blurted out:

"Gimme 'nuther!"

Can the indifference of affluence go beyond this?

Severe Exposure.

Some people, says the San Francisco Post, never seem to get the right idea of a subject, somehow. They were talking up at McAllister's, the other evening, of the sufferings of the poor people turned out of doors by the recent hurricanes in the Southern States, when a bashful young man with a green necktie, who was silently squirming on a straight-backed chair, in a corner, was asked how much exposure he thought it possible for a human being to endure.

'Exposure, mum? Yes, mum. Well, the most terrible instance of exposure I ever knew was something that happened to myself, a few years ago.'

'Indeed,' said a young lady. 'Tell us all about it.'

'Well, you must know I had a great habit of walking out through the park, and strolling on the beach near the Cliff House. One Sunday morning, very early, I was tempted by the extreme heat to slip into the surf and take a bath, which, as there was no one around at that hour, I finally did. Judge of my horror when I came out and found that the tide had risen and carried off my clothes.'

'Ahem!' interrupted the hostess. 'Won't—won't you try some chocolate, Mr. Skidmore?'

'Thanks—in a minute—just as soon as I finish my story. Yes, every stitch I had in the world was gone—everything but a chest protector, and I was forced to walk into Vanness avenue, where I lived, with nothing but that between me and the sneers of a heartless world. I'll tell you how I managed. I took off the chest pro—'

But just here three ladies fainted, while another with great tact sat down at the piano and shrieked 'Nancy Lee' at the top of her lungs, under cover of which the dead and wounded were carried off, while the sincere but misguided young man was coaxed out into the hall and handed his hat.

According to an advertisement in the London Telegraph, ladies moving in fashionable society may without interfering with their social position realize from $500 to $1,500 a year by introducing the high class wines of an established house. A commencing salary of $250 per annum and a liberal commission are promised.

☞ Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

—A good child's suit at Lyon & Co.'s for $2.00.

—Congressman S. H. Yocum returned home from Washington on Friday.

—The promenaders are putting in full time during these bright moonlit nights.

—Several picnic parties went out from town on Saturday for a gambol in the woods.

—The crops throughout the Bald Eagle Valley, especially potatoes, are growing finely.

—Mr. Frank Willoughby has severed his connection with the Huntingdon Local News.

—The late rains have pretty thoroughly washed the refuse matter from our back alleys.

—All the "big guns" in town smoke Harry Green's cigars, and pronounce them the best in the market.

—Quite a number of raftsmen were in town on Saturday seeing the sights, laying in a stock of clothing and punishing lager.

—Let's see, was anything ever done about that contemplated bath-house? If it was built where is it? and if it wasn't why wasn't it?

—Samuel Lewins, at the Philadelphia branch, is the man who can fit you out with a nobby suit, or any thing else in the clothing line.

—Harry Green does not have to advertise his cigars in a circus arena; they speak for themselves, and every body buys them. That's enough.

—It is said that one of our census takers had a lively tussle with a South ward maiden lady. She was loath to give her age and wanted to fight it out.

—Saturdays are not now as lively in town as at the beginning of the season, when the farmers were not so closely occupied with their farm duties.

—York county has ten thousand acres of newly planted tobacco, enough to furnish us with "imported Havana" cigars for the next five years.

—Vegetables, with the exception of beets, are becoming more plenty and cheaper. "Dead beats" are as plenty as usual, and can be bought for little or nothing.

—Mr. Will Curtin, who has purchased the right to sell the patent alarm lock in this county, is making a vigorous canvass, and ought to meet with success.

—Independence day is coming. What are we going to do about it?—[Huntingdon Local News. Do the same as we are going to do over here, let 'er come.

—Mrs. A. Curtin, of Roland, will please accept our thanks for a basket of delicious strawberries. They were of several choice varieties, and show careful cultivation.

—If Bellefonte isn't going to have any kind of a demonstration on the Fourth we may as well close up shop and go up to Port Matilda. There's where the fun will be.

—We haven't heard a decent rumor about the car works, glass works or any other works for two or three days now. Tho man who attends to this must be off on a vacation.

—The work of the census enumerator of Philipsburg is about complete, and indicates that the population of that burg will reach about 1800, an increase of 700 on the census of 1870.

—Mr. F. D. McCollum, formerly proprietor of the Bush House, stopped off here last Friday night just long enough to shake hands with his friends and transact a little private business.

—Miss Maggie Snowden, one of Bellefonte's most accomplished music teachers, departed Friday on a visit to friends in Freemont, this State, and Cincinnati, intending to be absent several months.

—Gentlemen, you can do better by purchasing your clothing of Samuel Lewins, at the Philadelphia branch, than at any other establishment in the county. Don't forget this when you want any thing in the clothing line.

—A resident of Bunker Hill informs us that he and his neighbors have been very much annoyed of late by the disorderly conduct of a couple of young men who frequently visit that vicinity after night. Mend your ways, young men!

A Send-off for the Chicago Nominees.

According to announcement the Republicans of Bellefonte and vicinity assembled in the Court House Thursday evening to ratify the nominees of the Chicago convention—Garfield and Arthur. The Mountain City Band started the ratification by marching up High street to the Court House, where several lively selections were rendered, which seemed to stir up the populace, and soon the people began to pour into the building in a steady stream.

By eight o'clock the house was filled to over flowing, and the arrival a few moments later of a large delegation from Pleasant Gap with a band of music filled up the aisles and hallway.

The meeting was organized by the election of Robert Valentine, Esq., president; secretaries, A. A. Dale and James Montgomery; Vice-Presidents, James T. Stewart, of Haines township; R. H. Duncan, of Gregg; Martin Bingham, of Gregg; Harrison Levy, of Milesburg; Captain Austin Curtin, of Boggs.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Valentine made a few remarks in regard to the object of the meeting. It was to harmonize those who had expressed their preference for the different candidates at the Chicago convention. "We want to bury the hatchet. We want to know no Grant men, no Blaine men, no Sherman men, but Gen. James A. Garfield. We want to work for the success of the Republican party and the general good of the country," said Mr. Valentine.

Hon. James Milliken was then introduced, who addressed the meeting in his usual forcible and eloquent manner. He spoke of the early history of Gen. Garfield, and his course of life until elected to the United States Senate. He said that under his leadership the Republican party enters the present campaign with very favorable prospects.

Mr. Milliken was followed by John G. Love, Esq., who delivered a ringing address, and was frequently interrupted by loud applause. He reviewed the party from its inception, spoke of its great mission and object and its regard for the general elevation of mankind.

At the conclusion of Mr. Love's speech the audience called loudly for Gen. Beaver, who responded with an able and telling half-hour speech. He said that, although he went to the convention instructed to support Gen. Grant, and did support him, from honest motives, yet, knowing Gen. Garfield's private and public history as he did, he could heartily endorse his nomination, and felt confident that under the leadership of such a man success was certain.

A. O. Furst, Esq., was next called for. He took the platform and delivered one of the most stirring addresses of the evening. His speech was replete with wit, sarcasm and patriotic sentiment, and was received with rounds of applause.

The Pleasant Gap and Mountain City bands enlivened the meeting with several appropriate selections, which kept the large audience in a pleasant frame of mind.

A Spring Street Crash.

Sunday night, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, a portion of the stone work on the main tower of the Presbyterian church fell to the sidewalk with a loud crash, arousing the people for several squares around, who, at first thought, supposed the tower, which has long been in a shaky condition, had fallen. The heavy stone steps leading to the side entrance of the church, on which the bulk of the mass lodged, were split and broken to pieces, and the sidewalk considerably torn up. It is very fortunate that the accident did not occur earlier in the evening when the people were going to or returning from church, as in that case it is quite probable it would have resulted in the loss of several lives.

Ice Cream Festival.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Sabbath school will give an ice cream and strawberry festival in the Wigwam on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, notice of which has already been given. Ice cream, strawberries, cake, and various other good things will be offered, and to make the occasion still more attractive and pleasant, the Sunday school orchestra will be present and furnish some excellent music. The proceeds of the festival will go towards the furnishing fund of the new S. S. room. All who attend will have an enjoyable time, and there should be a large attendance. Gentlemen, take your ladies around to the feast and aid a commendable object.

—The crane at the rear of the freight depot, used for unloading heavy merchandise from the cars, was snapped off at the base Friday afternoon in unloading a heavy steam boiler. The strain was too great.

Wedding Bells Down the Valley.

Walnut Farm, near Curtin's Station, Boggs township, was the scene of a very pleasant and important event on Wednesday afternoon last, and which created quite a stir among the fashionable ones of the community. The affair to which we allude was the marriage of Miss Thomasine Holter, daughter of Mr. John Holter, to Mr. Howard M. Walker, of Philadelphia.

The occasion had long been looked forward to by friends of the contracting parties, and furnished a subject for much conversation in the social circles of that vicinity. The bride is a modest, unassuming young lady, and well known for her many accomplishments and amiable qualities. With the gentleman with whom she has united her fate we have not the pleasure of an acquaintance, but are informed that he is well-known throughout this section and has many warm friends. He was formerly a clerk in the employ of Curtin & Co., of Eagle iron works, but is now engaged in a prosperous business in the Quaker City.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Swallow, presiding elder of the district, in the presence of relatives of the bride and invited guests from Tyrone, Lock Haven, Bellefonte, and vicinity, after which the happy couple received the earnest congratulations of their assembled friends. At the conclusion of the hand-shaking the company was invited to sit down and refresh themselves from a bountifully-spread table. The eatables are said to have been of an excellent quality and temptingly arranged, and we imagine no one needed a second invitation to partake thereof.

The bride and groom were the recipients of numerous handsome and useful presents from their relatives and close acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Walker have the warmest wishes and congratulations of their many friends in this vicinity, including our own, and may life-long happiness and prosperity be theirs.

The editor of the NEWS acknowledges with many thanks the receipt of a generous slice of wedding cake from the bride's mother, who, by the way, is one of the most estimable and kindly-disposed ladies that ever lived.

It Is Thought

That Bellefonte beats the Universe for runaways.

That it is about time the sidewalk between the water works and Valentines railroad crossing was repaired. It is not safe to walk on by daylight, to say nothing of a dark night.

That the young lady on Bishop street, who devoured a cake of castile soap to get rid of freckles, will recover.

That something will be done with the car works—eventually.

That the talk of erecting a summer hotel on Half Moon hill will all end in wind. Very likely.

That Theodore Deschner will make a desperate effort to escort Wilkinson, the "champion shootist" into camp one of these nights, or find out where the difficulty is.

That if Jimmy Irwin would knock off those "chinners" and try again, that the next crop would exceed his fondest expectations.

That if the man who attempted to carry a bundle of straw across the bridge in his arms, last night, had carried his baggage on his back, he wouldn't have fallen all over the bridge and lost his straw in the race.

That the population of Bellefonte will show a larger increase than was at first expected.

That a Sunday-school picnic will shortly be announced.

That the Bellefonte Fencibles will be ready to subdue a riot in about four week.

That Bellefonte will be visited by another circus sometime in July.

That the Linn streeter who fired at a burglar and brought down a cat the other night will investigate matters more fully the next time before he shoots.

That the leading hotels will entertain a great many guests during the months of July and August.

That the Pennsvalley cave will be visited by a great many people this summer. We know of one man that's going over, anyhow, if he has to foot it.

—The growing wheat in this State is being attacked by worms, to the great injury of the crops. In Chester county the grain in the wheat heads seem to be stung, as each stock appears to be dead at the base, and the army worm is blamed for the mischief. The wheat has also been similarly attacked in Huntingdon county, and much alarm is being felt by the farmers.

—Says the Clarion Mail: Warren has a married lady who gave her age last week at twenty-five, and her daughter's age was given by the daughter as eighteen. A seven year old mother is rather young, but figures won't lie.

Our Band Master's Departure.

We are extremely pained to announce the departure from this place on Saturday evening last of Professor Richard S. Will's, late teacher and leader of the Mountain City Band. This move will be a surprise to many as well as it was to us when we heard of it a short time before the gentleman left. Our regret is extreme, and we are sure the community will sympathize with us in this regard. Why does Mr. Willis leave us? He came to us with an earnest welcome and with assurances that his distinguished musical abilities should be duly appreciated and satisfactorily rewarded. The band made such remarkable progress under his direction, and his own worth was so apparent and so uncommon, that some of our leading citizens assured him of hearty support. He was well pleased with our town, and expressed himself as willing to make the place his home for an indefinite period should he be at all satisfactorily sustained. Why does he leave us now? Simply and solely because he cannot live upon what he has received since he has been among us. The brilliant promises upon which he relied have proved to be worth simply nothing in reality. He is not reduced to the necessity of living upon such a pittance as was granted him here, as his services will command far more in the largest city in the Union.

We cannot help remarking that this treatment of Mr. Willis, and permitting him to leave us under such circumstances, is anything but creditable to our town. What will become of the band, now it has no efficient leader, we will not attempt to predict, but every one can see what are the evident probabilities. What shall we do during the coming campaign without a band of our own? It is said we can go to Pleasant Gap or Zion for our music. That would be creditable to Bellefonte, wouldn't it? Yet it looks as though that was to be our disgraceful predicament, with the possible alternative of a new band at Milesburg or Snow Shoe. Are we to be reduced to this? Forbid it, men of Greenbacks and specie! It must not be. Don't let us have a political campaign without music of our own, and that of good quality.

Professor Willis gives the assurance that he will return at any time when he is assured of a competent support. This is not asking too much it is as little as such a man could ask or we could expect to receive. We are sure that when our citizens wake up to a realization of the situation they will do something to put this matter in a less discreditable shape. What we want is immediate and effective action, and less talk that means nothing reliable. It is too bad that we have let this man go from among us in the way he has; it will be disgraceful if we do not soon bring him back and keep him here.

The Army Worm.

The Lancaster New Era thus tells of the march of the army worm through that vicinity: Reports from Bird-in-Hand of the doings of the army worm tell us they are about as bad as they can well be. Several farms have been invaded, and the worms are marching on. They are well drilled. Towards sundown they fall in ranks, and lose no time in going for their rations. Our correspondent tells us they go up to the stalk of timothy, eating the blades and head, but when that stalk is finished they do not go down and start a new one, but watch the nearest head, and when the gentle breezes blow it over towards them they make a grab and go downwards, losing no time in marching. He says standing in their midst one can hear them chewing. The worthy husbandmen are getting somewhat alarmed.

Open to the Public.

The Bush House, Bellefonte, Pa., will formally open July 3d, 1880, for the inspection of the public. An oration will be delivered from the balcony of the hotel at 2 p. m. After the oration the hotel will be thrown open to the public for inspection. In the evening will be a grand display of fireworks on Half Moon Hill, which can be viewed from the balconies of the Bush House. Dinner at 12 m. and supper at 6 p. m. Tickets for meals at the office.

D. P. PETERS, Prop'r.

—On the 26th day of April last, Joseph A. Keith, a forgeman in the employ of B. Lauth, Esq., of Howard Iron Works, while thrusting his shovel into a cinder pile fractured a small bone in his wrist, which disabled him for five weeks, for which he received fifty dollars, being at the rate of ten dollars per week, from the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, through Wm. B. Rankin, agent at Bellefonte. An accident policy costs but a small sum, and everyone should have one. In the above case it cost Mr. Keith $16.00 for the year. Apply to Wm. B. Rankin, agent.

Port Matilda.

Our able correspondent at Port Matilda furnishes us with the following graphic description of that thriving little village, which will be found interesting reading:

I promised to give you a short description of our town. I would state in the first place that our town is doomed to be some day one of the largest in the S— Worth township, situated as we are where the roads cross. The plank road from Tyrone to Bellefonte and Lock Haven is crossed by the road from the rich valleys beyond Muncy out into the fair lands beyond the Alleghenies. We are also on the B. E. V. R. R., about thirteen miles from Tyrone and twenty from Bellefonte, and the point where our friends of Halfmoon do their railroading; consequently we think we are safe in saying we have as much or more travel than any village of its size in the county, and with this also, as a gentleman said who visited us lately, more business done there than any place of its dimensions we know of.

Our town is kept awake by the running of the large steam sawmill of Messrs. Chaney & Thompson, who employ a small army of men. They are also farming very extensively—are now cultivating a field for wheat which contains one hundred and twenty-five acres.

Messrs. Hoover & Reese are doing a heavy business in coaling for Valentines & Co., of your town. They also have a planing mill, and store to supply their hands.

Our tennery, like many other establishments, suffered by the panic, and is doing nothing at present.

The chair factory is sending its furniture to different parts of the county.

Our blacksmith is Mr. H. H. Osman, who is a good, clever fellow and does twice as much work as one man should.

Thomas Weston and J. G. Jones, Esqs., are our J. P.'s, and try to decide the law among us impartially.

J. T. Marks makes and repairs wagons and the like.

Mr. A. Y. Williams, who is now attending the Millers' Convention at Cincinnati, is our miller, who makes flour that nobody grumbles at.

Mr. W. W. McKinney is our postmastmaster, the ticket and freight agent for the railroad company; and a man could not be found who would keep things in better order and attend more strictly to business.

Mrs. N. A. Hasson feeds hungry travelers, and keeps a good hotel.

Miss. Sallie Gingery fits up the girls with new hats, etc.

Our town contains two fine churches, Presbyterian and Methodist. It also affords two ministers, Rev. King, of the Methodist, and Rev. Stahl, of the U. B. church. We have a summer school under the supervision of Miss Alice Conrad.

Dr. S. Fugute attends to healing the sick.

We have a very fair general store with A. Jackson Smith as proprietor. So you see most of the important branches of business are represented. We need a good photographer yet to finish out; and in closing out I would give as a key to our success, the fact that we are nearly all of the right political stamp, i. e. Garfield men.

Unionville Brevities.

William P. Fisher has returned from an eastern trip.

J. C. Enwer and family, of New Castle, Pa., are here visiting friends.

B. F. Leathers & Son have sold their sawmill to Philip Dale, of Lemont.

We don't like to see one man pasture his horse in the yard of the Union church to the exclusion of his neighbor's; that property belongs to we the citizens.

We don't like to see our alleys filled with wood-piles, old wagons, buggies, etc.

We don't like to see manure heaps as large as an elephant on our sidewalks, which is so offensive to persons living in the vicinity, an affront to strangers and a disgrace to our council

We don't like to see a man's cow going around town tearing down his neighbors' shade trees.

We don't like to see so many young men and boys on our street corners on Sabbath. It don't look well, and is very annoying to church-going people.

We don't like to see so many little children, mere babies, on the streets after dark. It don't speak well for parents, besides it is dangerous. Horses and cattle might run over them and cripple the little ones for life; and, worse than all, remember the fate of Charlie Ross. MACK.

Philipsburg Republicans.

Under the call of Capt. Harry Simler, chairman Republican Vigilance Committee, the Republicans of Philipsburg met on Friday evening last and ratified the nominations made at Chicago by organizing the first "Garfield and Arthur Club" in old Centre.

Their membership is now over 100 and increasing every day. They have also secured a room for six months, in which to hold their regular meetings. This augurs well for the Republican party, and we may look for good results at the November election, from Philipsburg borough and Rush township.

—The Supreme Court of Georgia decides in the case of the Western Union Telegraph Company against the American Union Telegraph Company, sustaining the decision of the lower court in favor of the American Union. The court holds that the exclusive contracts of the Western Union to build lines along certain railroads void, as being in restraint of trade, ultra vires, and because if sustained the State right of eminent domain would be subject to be lost by contracts of corporations Well, it don't make much difference how the telegraph companies arrange their difficulties. They may war with each other, appeal to the courts for justice, and all that, but one thing is certain, the people will continue to flock to Sechler & Co.'s for their groceries. No matter what else happens, they are bound to have pure, fresh goods, and as Sechler's is the place to get them they will go there even if we don't have any telegraph at all.

The Reason Why

all the manufacturers of machinery are so anxious to make a Separator of the "Vibrator" class, is because it has been proved beyond a question that the principles upon which the "Vibrator" is built are the only correct ones. It may not be generally known, but it is a fact, that the word "Vibrator" is not to be found in the dictionary, but was coined and copyrighted by Nichols, Shepard & Co., of Battle Creek, Mich., for their threshing machinery. The success of this firm is almost phenomenal, and yet it but illustrates the fact that true merit will always succeed. By discovering and applying the true principles of construction, and using only the very best materials in manufacturing, this firm has risen to the first position in their line, and the "Vibrator" Separators and Engines are now used all over the world. Any one intending to buy any threshing machinery does himself great injustice if he does not first obtain full information from them and carefully examnie the merits of their goods.

The Markets.

BELLEFONTE, June 22, 1880.

The store boxes in comfortable shady locations are well filled to-day, awaiting new developments at Cincinnati. The dark horse is the most popular candidate, but no bets are offered. The betters don't seem to be on the market.

GRAIN.

Next to the Presidential candidates, the future prospect for wheat is freely discussed. The market at Bellefonte is weak at our quotations, and lower prices are anticipated. We regret to learn that many farmers have held too long, who are now compelled to take 25@30 cents per bushel less than winter prices.

At Philadelphia the market is steadily declining. No. 2 Pennsylvania wheat sold yesterday at $1.21½, which is the highest figure for Centre county wheat. Owing to the mixed wheat Centre county wheat, rates as No. 2. Rye, 87@88c; corn, 55c; oats, white, 42c, mixed, 39@40c.
